Dear Mr. Secretary:

Speaking as a friend of a person who is deaf, closed captioning has enriched her life by allowing her to visually access information. When captioning is not provided, she is excluded (by reason of her disability) from that information.

I commend Congress in its support of the Telecommunication Act (FCC 95-484). Closed captioning and video description of video programming is a benefit to everyone. I am asking that you consider having all programming captioned. It is frustrating for my friend when she is excluded from a program in which she has interest. I do not feel someone else should determine what type of program my friend or others who are deaf would be allowed to have access to.

Thank you for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Kenneth M. James II
