Wallace Computer Services strongly supports the merger of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX Corporations, two of our best customers. This merger is pro-competitive and in the public interest.

The merger will increase competition in telecommunications services markets...to the ultimate benefit of Wallace Computer Services. We support the efforts of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX to become more competitive. And, by creating a more competitive telecommunications services market, this merger ultimately will increase the overall output of those services and thus give us and other suppliers more opportunities to sell our products and services.

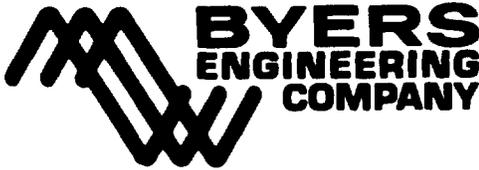

Sincerely,

Wallace, Inc.

Dear Mr. Caton:

Byers Engineering Company is a supplier of engineering and technical services to the communications industry. In this capacity, we have had strong working relationships with both Bell Atlantic and NYNEX for many years and consider them two of our better clients.

We endorse the merger of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX and recommend the commission's approval of this undertaking.

Respectfully,

N. Allen Robertson
Vice President

Dear Mr. Secretary,

Telamon Corporation strongly supports the merger of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX Corporations, two of our best customers. This merger is pro-competitive and in the public interest.

One, the Telecommunications Act of 1996 has created an environment whereby long distance and multimedia companies are able to enter what has been traditionally the telephone company's service. Two, by Bell Atlantic and NYNEX merging to work as one company, competitors should gain access to this territory quicker and comprehensively which in turn will allow the merged companies to break into long distance and other markets resulting in increased competition. Three, with a level playing field among competitive companies, even startup or small companies will have access to the state-of-the-art networks provided by Bell Atlantic and NYNEX and thus be able to compete with them.

The merger will increase competition in telecommunications services markets - to the ultimate benefit of Telamon. We support the efforts of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX to become more competitive. And by creating a more competitive telecommunications services market, this merger ultimately will increase the overall output of those services and thus give us and other suppliers more opportunities to sell our products and services.

Thank you for your attention to this letter and this very important merger.

Respectfully,

Albert Chen
CEO, Telamon Corporation

Dear Mr. Caton:

Howard Press strongly supports the merger of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX Corporations, two of our best customers. This merger is pro-competitive and in the public interest.

In my opinion the merger will increase competition in telecommunications services markets -- to the ultimate benefit of Howard Press. We support the efforts of Bell Atlantic and NYNEX to become more competitive. And by creating a more competitive telecommunications services market, this merger ultimately will increase the overall output of those services and thus give us and other suppliers more opportunities to sell our products and services.

Cordially,

HOWARD PRESS
