Re: In the Matter of: Preemption of Local Zoning
Regulations of Satellite Earth Stations: IB docket No. 95-
59; In the Matter of Implementation of Section 207 of the Telecommunications Act of 1996

Housing cooperatives are a unique form of home ownership which, by democratic process, elect a board of directors to make decisions affecting its members. This board should be allowed to make the decision regarding the installation of satellite equipment (and antennae) to serve its members' telecommunication needs. Property in a housing cooperative is owned in common by the housing cooperative. Individual shareholders and residents need to have their plans reviewed by the cooperative to assure that no adverse effects will occur due to proposed installations.

The following members of housing cooperatives are opposed to allowing individual members to install satellite equipment (and antennae) on common property without appropriate review by the cooperative.
