As an amateur radio operator I am concerned that the 70 cm band may be lost to larger cooperate organizations. As a member of the emergency medical services I am concerned that an effective method of communication will be lost be continued down-sizing of the amateur radio spectrum.

It strikes me as ironic that as technology allows more efficient and effective use of the radio spectrum, well funded cooperate organizations push harder for more and more of the spectrum. Amateur radio operators make efficient use of a very small portion of the spectrum. Don't make it any smaller!
