The internet is perhaps the greatest innovation within my lifetime and has truly changed our country, culture, and lives. My entire livelihood is tied to the success of the internet. The majority of my day is spent online and like most Americans I carry an internet connection in my pocket..

One of the amazing aspects of the internet is that each website is treated equally. It could be a billion dollar company's website, or your neighbor's blog. The change in Net Neutrality threatens to change that, providing control of the internet to big business. Please do not let this happen.
