I know this comment will 'magically' disappear, because the telecoms and their head lobbyist (also head of FCC) will make sure of that. But here it goes anyway.

Protect net neutrality at all cost! Do not, and I repeat, DO NOT, let the greedy telecoms get away with this. People and other non-telco companies have spoken (wait, since when do companies vote? And since when 5 telecom companies make the rules for this country?).

Internet will stay free and needs to stay free! We don't need to pay more for a special fast lane (in reality the existing slow lane, and new slower lane would be created) we need to end this ridiculous monopoly! Almost every other country, and every other developed country, have better, faster, cheaper internet access! What they don't have? All the pesky telecom lobbyists.

Let the freedom ring and down with monarchy or monopoly!
