

60000975027.txt

I would ask that the FCC take steps to ensure that there is no "internet fast lane" and continue with net neutrality. By any Regular Person standard, the cable companies are blatantly trying to enforce what are already practically monopolies in their respective regions, and the public will suffer. The internet has proven to be a great equalizer for both the small and big business owners, and this measure to end that will give further leverage only to those who can afford it.