SUMMARY

St. Brigid School (“Brigid” or “School”) hereby supplements its timely filed July 11, 2014 Request For Review Or Waiver (“Appeal”) of the Universal Service Administrative Company’s (“USAC”) Schools and Libraries Division Notification Of Commitment Adjustment Letters, dated May 14, 2014 (“COMADs”). The COMADs seek recovery of $11,272.46 in disbursed funds and rescission of $9,053.49 in previously-approved E-Rate Program Support.

The School conducted a competitive bidding process in the spirit of compliance with the E-Rate Program rules regarding the solicitation and consideration of competing bids. It timely posted its FCC Form 470s and waited the requisite time period under the rules, during which time the School received two proposals for Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections. Brigid respectfully submits that this demonstrates good faith efforts by the School to fully comply with the competitive bidding rules, and thus Brigid’s conduct does not warrant imposition of the COMADs.

USAC contends that the Form 470 description of the requested Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections was insufficiently detailed, but does not explain how, other than to point to the fact that the School received an email seeking some additional information. Brigid respectfully submits that one such inquiry does not equate with an inadequate description under the E-Rate Program rules. Nor does the failure of the School to respond render the competitive bidding process defective. There is no indication that inquirer ever followed up and records indicate it has never filed a Service Provider Certification Form or been selected to receive E-Rate Program support.

Finally, even assuming the Commission finds a violation of the E-Rate Program requirements under these circumstances—where the School made good faith efforts to comply with what the Commission itself concedes can be a complicated set of rules— the School respectfully submits that a waiver of the requirement is wholly justified. Simply put, equitable considerations, hardship, and the lack of any evidence of waste, fraud, or abuse warrant that the COMADs be rescinded.

SUPPLEMENT TO REQUEST FOR REVIEW OR WAIVER

This is a Supplement (“Supplement”) filed on behalf of St. Brigid School, which is part of the Catholic Archdiocese of New York school system (“Brigid” or “School”). On July 11, 2014, the School timely filed, in accordance with Sections 54.719-54.721 of the Federal Communication Commission’s (“FCC” or “Commission”) rules, a separate Request For Review Or Waiver (“Appeal”) relating to decisions of the Universal Service Administrator (“Administrator”) to rescind and/or recover certain Schools and Libraries Support Mechanism (“E-Rate Program” or “Program”) funding provided to the School for Funding Year (“FY”) 2012.¹

Therein the School reserved the right to supplement its Appeal and herein does so, further reserving the right to address any further questions that might be raised by the Commission as a result of this Supplement, including by way of further supplementation at its own discretion or at the request of the Commission.

I. INTRODUCTION

The School conducted a competitive bidding process in the spirit of compliance with the E-Rate Program rules regarding the solicitation and consideration of competing bids. It timely posted its FCC Form 470s and waited the requisite time period under the rules, during which time the School received two proposals for Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections. Brigid respectfully submits that these efforts demonstrate good faith efforts by the School to fully comply with the competitive bidding rules and Brigid's conduct does not warrant imposition of the COMADs.

USAC contends that the Form 470 description of the requested Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections was insufficiently detailed, but does not explain how, other than to point to the fact that the School received an email seeking some additional information. Brigid respectfully submits that one such inquiry does not equate with an inadequate description under the E-Rate Program rules. Nor does the failure of the School to respond render the competitive bidding process defective. There is no indication that inquirer ever followed up and records indicate it has never filed a Service Provider Certification Form or been selected to receive E-Rate Program support.

Even assuming the Commission finds a technical violation of the E-Rate Program requirements under these unfortunate circumstances—where the School made good faith efforts to comply with what the Commission itself concedes can be a complicated set of rules—the School respectfully submits that a waiver of the requirement is wholly justified. Simply put, equitable considerations, hardship, and the lack of any evidence of waste, fraud, or abuse warrant that the COMADs be rescinded.

II. STATEMENT OF THE SCHOOL'S INTERESTS IN THE APPEAL

The School had standing to file the Appeal and this Supplement because Section 54.719(c) of the Commission's rules provides that "[a]ny person aggrieved by an action taken by a division of the Administrator ... may seek review from the Federal Communications Commission."² In this case, the School is directly aggrieved by the Universal Service Administrative Company's ("USAC") COMADs and its continued effort to recover previously approved Program funds expended in accordance with that approval.

III. KEY BACKGROUND FACTS

A. The School

Brigid is a private, coed, inner-city Catholic elementary school located in the lower East Side of New York City. It is among a number of such schools in the Archdiocese of New York that participated in the E-Rate Program. For FY 2012, the School qualified for discounts at the 90% rate, with 98.5% of its students eligible for free or reduced price lunches under the National School Lunch Program. For FY 2012, the School served 209 students in pre-kindergarten through 8th grade, many of whom were from families of needy residents.

B. FCC Form 470s

The School timely posted an FCC Form 470 for FY 2012 on July 14, 2011 for Telecommunication Services and Internet Access. The Form 470 posted used generic, vendor-neutral language to describe the categories of eligible services being sought. It posted a separate Form 470 on January 15, 2012 for Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections services, indicating that it was seeking hourly pricing for maintenance services for wireless access points and other eligible equipment.³

² 47 C.F.R. § 54.719(c).

³ The relevant Form 470s are attached as Exhibit 2.

C. The Competitive Bidding Process and FCC Form 471s

After the posting of the Form 470s, the School waited the requisite 28 days before making its selections. Available records reflect that the School received two proposals for Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections. One from All County Business Machines Corporation, the incumbent, and the other from Knight Nets Inc., which also submitted a proposal for Internet Access.⁴

Brigid filed Form 471 No.828062 for Telecommunications Service on February 7, 2012. The Telecommunications Service selections, Verizon New York, Inc. and Sprint Spectrum, L.P., were for non-contracted tariffed or month-to-month services.

It filed Form 471 No. 859000 for Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections on March 14, 2012, selecting Knight Nets. Finally, the School filed its Form 471 No. 868933 for Internet Access on March 19, 2012, again selecting Knight Nets.⁵

USAC issued Funding Commitment Decision Letters approving the requested support on July 10, 2012 (Telecommunications Service and Internet Access) and November 13, 2012 (Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections).⁶

D. USAC's 2014 Commitment Adjustment Letters

On May 14, 2014, after a series of USAC inquiries starting in April 2013, USAC issued the COMADs.⁷ The Funding Commitment Adjustment Explanation in each case included the following:

⁴ See Exhibit 3.

⁵ The Form 471s are Exhibit 4

⁶ See Exhibit 5.

⁷ Copies of the COMADs are included in Exhibit 1.

“After multiple requests for documentation, it has been determined that this funding commitment must be rescinded in full. The applicant failed to produce at the request of the Administrator the following documentation pertaining to its competitive bidding process: copies of bids received and documentation to support the vendor evaluation and selection process. FCC rules require schools and libraries to retain all documents related to the application for, receipt, and delivery of discounted telecommunications and other supported services for at least five years after the last day of service delivered in a particular Funding Year and to produce such records upon a request of an auditor or other authorized representative. FCC rules further provide that a non-compliance with the FCCs record keeping and auditing rules by failure to retain records or to make available required documentation is a rule violation that warrants recovery of any disbursed funds for the time period for which the information/documentation is being sought. Since you failed to produce the above specified documentation upon request of an authorized representative, your compliance with the competitive bidding requirements could not be determined. As a result your funding commitment has been rescinded in full and USAC will seek recovery of any improperly disbursed funds from the applicant.”⁸

The Explanation for FRN 2337783 also included the following:

“Additionally USAC received information showing that a potential bidder contacted you within the 28 day bidding window seeking information about your Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections (BMIC) requirements. Documentation provided during review, indicates you did not respond to the potential bidder with the information sought. It has been determined that the maintenance services as requested on FCC Form 470 #570460000999494 contains maintenance service descriptions which are insufficiently detailed to allow prospective bidders to provide a bid responsive to the maintenance services that were subsequently requested by the school in FRN 2337783 Since you did not respond with the information sought by the service provider and since the service provider would not have been able to provide a responsive bid without the additional information, a fair and open competition bidding process was inhibited. Since you posted FCC Form 470 #570460000999494, which included a request for BMIC, you are obligated to receive and assess all bids and provide to potential service providers with requested information so that they may provide responsive bids. The competitive bidding process is not fair and open, as required by FCC Rules, when you discourage potential bidders from submitting a response to the services requested on the FCC Form 470. Therefore, the applicant has violated the competitive bidding program rules and your funding commitment will be rescinded in full.”

Again, the COMADs seek recovery of $11,272.46 in disbursed funds and rescission of $9,053.49 of previously-approved E-Rate Program support.

⁸ The language of the Explanation for FRN 2337783 included the specific statement that USAC would seek recovery of $3,847.50 from the applicant.

IV. STANDARD OF REVIEW

USAC's authority to administer the E-Rate Program is limited to implementing and applying the Commission's rules and the Commission's interpretations of those rules as found in Commission decisions and orders.⁹

USAC is not empowered to make policy, interpret any unclear provisions of the governing statute or the rules promulgated by the Commission,¹⁰ or create the equivalent of new guidelines.¹¹ USAC is responsible for "administering the universal support mechanisms in an efficient, effective, and competitively neutral manner."¹² In connection with efforts to recover previously approved E-Rate support, USAC has the burden of acting in a timely manner to recover and demonstrating that there has been a statutory or substantive rule violation.¹³ Finally, the Commission's review of the COMAD is de novo, and the agency is not bound by any findings or conclusions of USAC.¹⁴

V. ARGUMENT

A. The Bidding Process, Form 470 Description and Failure To Respond To A Single Email Do Not Justify Imposition Of The COMADs

The School conducted a competitive bidding process in the spirit of compliance with the E-Rate Program rules regarding the solicitation and consideration of competing bids. It timely posted its FCC Form 470s and waited the requisite time period under the rules, during which time the School received two proposals for Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections. Brigid respectfully submits that these efforts demonstrate good faith efforts by the School to fully comply with the competitive bidding rules and Brigid's conduct does not warrant imposition of the COMADs.

USAC asserts that the COMAD for FRN 2335462 is further justified because the descriptions of the Basic Maintenance of Internal Connections being sought by the School are "insufficiently detailed to allow prospective bidders to provide a [responsive] bid." The COMAD does not explain the insufficiency or against what specific standard approved by the Commission it must be measured. The Form 470 reflected that there would be wireless access points and sought basic maintenance for all access points and controllers. Moreover, the Form 470 sought an "hourly pricing rate" not an overall contract price. In any case, the School respectfully submits that the description was sufficiently complete to allow bidders to specify their hourly rate for the categories of maintenance services specified.

USAC's conclusion that the description was insufficient was apparently tied to an email message from Mr. Assad Gilani on behalf of SaaS Networks, Inc. who did ask for more information. But one inquiry cannot equate to a general conclusion that the Form 470 description is wanting. At least one other bidder was able to submit a bid based on the Form 470 and the support was approved and disbursed by USAC. Further Mr. Gilani apparently gathered some additional information himself from a prior year FCC Form 471 and was aware of the number of classrooms and computers involved.¹⁵

The School concedes that it was unable to produce an email response to Mr. Gilani. There is no indication that there was any further inquiry by Mr. Gilani and his company ultimately did not submit a bid.¹⁶ However, there is no evidence here of any intentional or wilfull effort to favor one or more bidders or to ignore or exclude Mr. Gilani and SaaS, and therefore truncate competition. The apparent inadvertent failure of a busy elementary school Principal, to respond to Mr. Gilani via email, if that is in fact what occurred here, should not be turned into a “gotcha” violation that requires a 90% school to return needed E-Rate support money. This is especially the case when the funds have been spent properly for Priority 2 maintenance services in support of Internal Connections services that the Commission has now concluded are “crucial to improving educational experiences and expanding opportunities for all our nation’s students, teachers, parents and communities.”¹⁷ This is the kind of “strict liability” under the competitive bidding rules that the Commission appropriately recently questioned.¹⁸

Mr. Gilani sent one email (which may or may not have been answered) and then apparently failed to make any further inquiry or showing of interest.¹⁹ Brigid respectfully submits that under those circumstances a finding of a violation based on this scenario is not warranted and the relevant COMAD is unjustified on this basis.

¹⁶ Recent consultation of the USAC database indicates that SaaS has a SPIN, but there is no indication that it has ever filed a SPAC form. Annual submission of a SPAC is necessary for the service provider to be able to be paid on invoices submitted to USAC. See <http://www.e-ratecentral.com/formsRack/sp/Form473.asp> Further, based on consultation using SaaS’s SPIN with a database maintained by E-Rate Central, SaaS has never been selected to receive any E-Rate Program support, before or since FY 2012. See Exhibit 7.

¹⁸ “At the same time, as our rules have expanded, the risk to applicants of having USAC or the Commission seek full reimbursement of previously disbursed funds based on a rule or program violation has also grown, and sometimes full reimbursement is not commensurate with the violation incurred.” In the Matter of Modernizing the E-Rate Program for Schools and Libraries, Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, 28 FCC Rcd 11304, 11372, ¶253 (2013) (“Modernization NPRM”).

¹⁹ Mr. Gilani sent similar email messages to a number of other schools that are the subject of similar COMADs because of an inability to demonstrate a response to his inquiries. Again, in no case did he submit a bid. Moreover, see footnote 16, supra.

B. A Waiver Is Justified

Brigid respectfully submits that if the Commission concludes that there has been a violation of the E-Rate Program document retention and competitive bidding rules, a waiver of the rules is wholly justified under the special circumstances here.

The Commission's rules allow waiver of a Commission rule "for good cause shown."²⁰ The Commission has extended this authority to waivers of USAC rules. For example, in the Bishop Perry Order, the Commission noted that it "has vested in USAC the responsibility of administering the application process for the schools and libraries universal service support mechanism."²¹ Pursuant to that authority, USAC developed procedures relating to the application and appeals process.²² Thus, in Bishop Perry, the Commission applied the 47 C.F.R. § 1.3 waiver rule to allow a limited waiver of USAC procedures.²³ The Commission has established the following guidance for determining whether waiver is appropriate:

A rule may be waived where the particular facts make strict compliance inconsistent with the public interest. In addition, the Commission may take into account considerations of hardship, equity, or more effective implementation of overall policy on an individual basis. In sum, waiver is appropriate if special circumstances warrant a deviation from the general rule, and such deviation would better serve the public interest than strict adherence to the general rule.²⁴

Cir. 1969), aff'd, 459 F.2d 1203 (D.C. Cir. 1972)).

The School respectfully submits that the outcome of the vendor selection process here was “consistent with the policy goals underlying the Commission’s competitive bidding rules” and therefore a waiver is appropriate.²⁵

Strict compliance with the Commission’s rules in the special circumstances involving the School would not be in the public interest. In Bishop Perry, the FCC granted 196 appeals of decisions denying funding due to “clerical or ministerial errors in the application.”²⁶ In that case, the FCC found good cause to waive the minimum processing standards established by USAC, finding that “rigid compliance with the application procedures does not further the purposes of section 254(h) or serve the public interest.”²⁷ Many of the appeals in Bishop Perry involved staff mistakes or mistakes made as a result of staff not being available.²⁸ The Commission granted the waivers for good cause, noting that:

[T]he primary jobs of most of the people filling out these forms include school administrators, technology coordinators and teachers, as opposed to positions dedicated to pursuing federal grants, especially in small school districts. Even when a school official has learned how to correctly navigate the application process, unexpected illnesses or other family emergencies can result in the only official who knows the process being unavailable to complete the application on time. Given that the violation at issue is procedural, not substantive, we find that the complete rejection of each of these applications is not warranted. Notably, at this time, there is no evidence of waste, fraud or abuse, misuse of funds, or a failure to adhere to core program requirements. Furthermore, we find that denial of funding in these cases would inflict undue hardship on the applicants.²⁹

The Commission has recently formally recognized that the existing E-rate system is complex and burdensome, requiring applicants to spend many hours focusing on compliance with its various requirements.³⁰ Indeed, it is so complicated as to be a deterrent to particularly smaller schools even applying.³¹

Where the outcome of the competitive bidding process provided the applicant with the services that met their needs in a way that was ultimately likely to impose the least burden on the federal universal service fund, a waiver is appropriate.³²

There is absolutely no evidence here of any activity by the School intended to defraud or abuse the E-Rate Program.³³ Nor is there any evidence of any waste, fraud, or abuse, or misuse of funds.³⁴ The inability of the School to produce evidence of a response to Mr. Gilani does not reflect an effort to affirmatively discourage bidders.³⁵

Furthermore, the imposition of a requirement to reimburse the requested funds under these circumstances many months after they were originally approved and expended would impose an undue hardship on the School.³⁶ There is no evidence that the School acted in bad faith.³⁷ Requiring repayment would not further the purpose of preserving and advancing access to universal service support for schools and libraries.³⁸ Consequently, it would be inequitable to uphold the COMADs.³⁹ Thus, a waiver is appropriate under these special circumstances.

VI. CONCLUSION AND REQUEST FOR RELIEF

For the reasons set forth above, Brigid respectfully requests that the Commission grant the Appeal and direct USAC to overturn its prior decision and direct that USAC rescind the COMADs for the reasons set forth herein and because a waiver of the rules is fully justified.

There is no evidence that the School made other than good faith efforts to comply with what the Commission itself concedes can be a complicated set of rules. Therefore, a waiver of the

DECLARATION

I, Dr. Timothy J. McNiff, am the Superintendent of Schools for the Archdiocese of New York, a position that I have occupied since 2008. As Superintendent I am generally familiar with the E-Rate Program and the participation of the schools of the Archdiocese in that Program. I am further aware that on May 14, 2014, the Administrator of the Universal Service Administrative Company ("USAC") issued Notification of Commitment Adjustment Letters to 6 current and 3 former schools of the Archdiocese in connection with certain E-Rate Program support for Funding Year 2012. I am also aware that on July 11, 2014 each of those schools appealed, as a matter of right, the USAC decisions to the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC").

The foregoing Supplement To Request For Review Or Waiver was prepared pursuant to my ultimate direction, supervision and control. I declare under penalty of perjury that the factual statements therein relating to the participation of the particular Archdiocesan School that is the subject of the Supplement in the E-Rate Program for Funding Year 2012 are true and correct to the best of my knowledge, information and belief.
