

60000980779.txt

The Internet is now as important to communication as the telephone and should be similarly regulated as a utility with equal access for all.