

60000981840.txt

These two companies control most of the cable internet access in the United States, to allow them to merge would push out any other cable companies and give everyone a lack of any choice at all. We need more options and more competition from companies that are trying new things, not less choice and a single monopoly controlling everything we watch and all cable internet across the country