Re: Protecting and Promoting the Open Internet; Framework for Broadband Internet Services; GN Docket No. 14-28; GN Docket No. 10-127

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On November 6, 2014, Bob Quinn, Gary Phillips, Christopher Heimann, and I, all of AT&T, met with Julie Veach, Chief of the Wireline Competition Bureau, and the following members of that Bureau: Matthew DelNero, Claude Aiken, Melissa Kirkel, Thomas Parisi, Zachary Ross, and Cristine Fargotsten. During the meeting, we discussed the above-referenced proceedings.

In particular, we discussed so-called “hybrid” legal theories for protecting and promoting the Open Internet. We explained that any reliance on Title II would be problematic from a legal and policy perspective.

Pursuant to section 1.1206 of the Commission’s rules, this letter is being filed electronically with your office for inclusion in the public record of the above referenced proceeding. If you have any questions or need additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Henry G. Hultquist
