

60000983654.txt

We do not need laws that control access to the internet. This will bring a form of censoring to the internet that allows the bigger players to control the information to their liking. Do not like large cable companys purchase the internet, a place where no one should have more say than another person or company