

I'm greatly disappointed in FCC's decision to stop funding i711 and IP-Relay, the text relay services if they do not adhere to conversation monitoring. Other phone calls are not monitored, why does ours have to be? Whatever happened to our rights to privacy, let alone access to a medium that allows us to make phone calls like any other tax paying Americans. I personally prefer the text based relay services and do not like using Videophones. Please reverse your decision.
