

60000986439.txt

I believe that net neutrality must be preserved. Internet service providers are already a group of too powerful monopoly corporations that must be controlled. We in the US already have the slowest, most expensive internet service in the whole world. This alone is a good reason to control these greedy corporations.