

All Internet traffic should be treated the equally, fair and neutrally. Fast lanes on the Internet will give an advantage to wealthy corporations (like Comcast and Time Warner) which will harm further innovation of the Internet. Currently, the Internet is a place where all people have an equal voice and opportunity. Forcing someone to pay a premium to spread their content limits freedom of speech.