I am submitting my comment on keeping a open internet. There must be a open and protected internet for all of us to have equal access to. If this is not done, then a very select few companies will control the internet. We will have lost the most important part of our future for us and our children. Once this is gone, there is NO turning back, it will be lost forever. This can not happen. The internet is far to important to play politics with. This should be treated like a public utility, with NO one controlling it.
