

60000996434.txt

These two companies are already too large and near-monopolistic already; merging them would be absurd and in nobody's interest but their executives and top stock holders.