

60000996530.txt

Allowing these two companies to merge would threaten everything that Internet stands for: free-flowing access to any and all types of information and content. If you allow these two companies to merge, they will no doubt try to obtain a monopoly among all internet access providers and ruin the Internet as we know it.