

60001002991.txt

We do not need more giant corporations that have monopoly power in our economy. History has proven that when corporations get too large, they lose the incentive to compete, resulting in a bad situation for consumers. If anything, both Comcast and Time Warner should be broken up. To allow the combination of these two giant corporations will damage the US economy and be another mill stone around the necks of consumers.