

Decision makers,

A monopoly is wrong. People are entitled to the pursuit of happiness, which includes the choice for internet providers. One company controlling all of New York prevents healthy business competition and the opportunity for better service to customers. Keep the internet open.