I just received the new TWC-NYC rates for next month and am outraged. There is even a sports surcharge. I watch maybe 20 channels and am billed for a thousand. I don't feel the Comcast/TWC merger should be allowed to go through unless there is some modicum of a la carte allowed and a rationalization of the programming tiers. They are currently designed to prevent cord-shaving because the levels interlock; cutting from one affects the services in the other thus preventing any action. I fully support an effort to call cable broadband a utility.
