

Dear FCC,

I'm opposed to giving any entity the power to prevent a citizen's access to information available on the Internet - especially when the purpose is to create a monopoly for access and pricing.

Hotels should be looking to compete on the quality of their WiFi service - not via the lazy route of asking government to make them the only available option.

Thank you,

-Mark