

60001012125.txt

In the simplest of terms, I'm pretty well off so I can pay a lot extra for 120 volt electrical service in my house. My neighbor, on the other hand, is less well to do and can't afford the extra high tariff, so he only gets 80 volt service. Do you see an ethical issue in this analogy? I do.