Please do not change the regulations to allow companies to call directly or to use robocalls to contact phones on the justification that they "called the number by accident". Really? We get at least a dozen calls a week, at least half of them robocalls, from companies with which we have no relationship. I report them to you regularly, as we're on the Do Not Call registry.

These companies use every slimy trick in the book to try to get at us. If you make this change, all those scummy companies will pounce on it as justification to call all the time. We'll be buried under a tidal wave of calls, just like it was in the bad old days before the Do Not Call registry. Please don't sell us out to those corporations, no matter how much they snivel.
