Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing in response to a news article about the FCC possibly relaxing regulations on robocalls to cell phones as long as they were a 'wrong number'.

I must tell you that this is very disturbing! Many people who owe debts will dump a cell number and when it's recycled the next person who gets that number is the one who pays the price for a debt collection agency molesting the new cell phone number holder!!

Many, many people have a per minute cell plan and these types of calls would take money right out of those customers pockets!! I DO NOT want ANYONE that I did not personally specify being able to spam my phone and waste my money! I can see some company getting a wrong number due to the customer dumping the number BUT after being told by the new cell number owner that they have a wrong number that should be the end of the company being able to call that person!

It's bad enough being bombarded by 'Sarah', 'Alice', 'Rachael', or what ever name those Card Holders Services spammers are using these days without allowing companies to 'legally' spam you!

Please do NOT allow this to happen!!!

Sincerely,

Nora Cress
