The last frontier for us to be equal is the internet and it has been under attack for a long time. My opinions are not popular but they are valid in a dying world. I feel like a wounded soldier in a foxhole with two bullets left and the enemy is surrounding me all around. So the one bullet is for the FCC and the other is for me. Free enterprise is what has made this country great and healthy competitions makes business excel. The government has allowed to many mergers already leave the internet alone
