

We need to have the ability to block the annoying phone calls from anyone we choose!

Dear Sir/Madam,

NOMOROBO is the greatest thing since sliced bread. Tranquility reigns in my house due to the number of "1 Ring" and then silence occurrences.

Telemarketers serve no good purpose and anything that minimizes our exposure to them should be implemented.

Robo calls are ruining my life. Please let me say good bye to Rebecca from card services once and for all. Now they even call me using a local number. Weeny should my day be ruled by these calls. Make them stop please.

I want access to robocall blocking products like Nomorobo. My landline carrier, Verizon does not allow this. This should be allowed - there is no reason why I should be contacted by scam artists or harassed on my home phone. Please, please fix this!

If you're not willing to outright ban the process of robocalling from companies that have no prior contact or relationship with me, then at least allow me to opt out or block those calls. Ringing phones interrupt conversations, wake babies, and generally just annoy you. If a company stood outside my door and kept ringing my doorbell even after I told them to leave, the police would arrest them. Why should my phone be any different

Matt Drgaon
West Orange, NJ

The do no call list is a joke. We have been on the do not call list for as long as I can remember and frequently updated our status, yet still we get tons of unsolicited robocalls from less than honest businesses. The Nomorobo service has finally let us have a peaceful dinner and evening.

Robocall-blocking services should not be needed, but until there is a better solution, they are.

Kristen Turner
Seattle, WA

Nomorobo has saved my sanity. I was getting as many as 10+ calls per day from robotic dialers in violation of existing FCC rules/guidelines. I should not have to disconnect my landline phone in order to have peace and privacy. I would like emergency responders to know exactly where I am calling from in the event of an emergency in which I possibly am unable to speak.

I have had conversations with FCC employees regarding these calls and have been told that, due to these companies' policies and practices, there is nothing they can do to stop these illegal, harassing and annoying phone calls.

Please explain to me why I should have to disconnect my landline to preserve my sanity.

Kim Blackwell
Pennington, NJ

I use a robocalls blocking service and want to tell you how much of a relief it is. These robocalls have gotten to a point where it is just not annoying but really affecting my peace and quality of life. I used to get at least 20 robocalls a day and it is not fun. I pay for the phone service and I want to have this option.

I sincerely request the FCC to make this kind of robocall blocking services be widely available. Please do not let the phone companies take away this important service. Thank you.

Sree Shama
Johns Creek, GA

We need services like NOMOROBO.COM. I do not want these solitation calls, and they are relentless. I don't answer my phone any more and let the answering machine pickup. Then report any numbers to Nomobro that have been blocked. Blocked calls only have one ring when using Nomorobo's service. I can handle one ring because this is a free service. I would prefer none.

I don't understand why the phone companies can't do this. They are receiving money for this illegal activity. TWC only allows 30 calls to be blocked. I receive more than that. It's my phone and I want to be able to block all marketing calls. Do not call list by the FCC doesn't work. I would like to forward all marketing calls to FCC, and I still might do that.

Stop the calls, stop the madness!

T Vining
Gaston, SC

Robo Calls are ridiculous! They should be reserved as a public info type of thing used by If municipalities to inform; or to confirm an appointment you already have. At a business w/numerous lines you get many of them. But since they are mostly used as a marketing sales type of tool - NO ONE LISTENS TO THEM, except maybe poor old people or uninformed people who are ripe to be taken advantage of in the first place.

Jeanne Palmer

Let consumers manage and control their own phones.

That means:

Let us stop the annoying and costly RoboCalls.

Let us unlock and root our phones.

Bring back the FCC that watches out for consumers

(NOT the carriers).

Thanks

Cupertino

I am semi-handicapped and it is sometimes difficult to get to the phone. Yet I receive between 10 and 15 calls a day from these idiots! Why would anyone, ever, buy something from a company that is so annoying? Who can I report these jerks to? Better yet, how can I get them to stop?

I want to have nomorobo block the unwanted calls from my phone. I pay the bill on my phone and this is not Russia. We as tax payers have a right to our privacy.

San Antonio, Texas

I am tired of getting all these auto dialed call. Some days I would get 10 or more. When I tell them I am on the "do not call" list they just ignore me. I even had one person laugh and ask what I was going to do about it. The do not call list is a joke to them. It is my phone, I paid for it and I pay for the service. It is my right to block who or what ever I want to keep my privacy. If I want a sales person I'll call one. That's an idea. I should be able to call them back at all hours of the day. Hey I can't they have me blocked, can't return their call.

Robert C. Ward

DO THE RIGHT THING. The do not call list does not work. NOMOROBO does.

We have tried everything we can to stop Robocalls. The unwanted calls come all hours of the day and night. AT&T is our phone carrier. They do not offer call blocking options for our area. We need your help to bring peace back to our home. Please, please stop the Robocalls. We will appreciate your prompt attention to our request for help to stop unwanted calls.

Robocalls are the worst nuisance in my life...all day long, and now they are coming in the evening and middle of the night! One would think you could do something about it.....please.

I am currently using a robocall blocking program on my home landline phone number and am very happy with the results. I do believe that this same service should be available for cell phone numbers as well. Thank you.

Please find a way to block all robo calls and hold the phone companies accountable for aiding known violators. Also need to know who is calling. I do not think this is a privacy issue since the person calling you gives it up by calling you.

In addition, you need to find a way to reverse a spoofed number so that citizens can use the device to know who is calling.

Last, when you or the FTC have information on the violators, please make immediately available to the public so that legal action can be taken.

thank you.

Robocalls are a terrible, flagrantly terrible invasion of privacy! And if you allow companies to robocall my cellphone, it will cost me money for every robocall I receive, which is not only an invasion of privacy but infuriatingly wrong! To think that this could be allowed by you is terrible! Don't do it!

George Thompson

If companies are allowed to robo-call me and use automated messages then I would be inundated with calls from robots. To protect myself from this scenario I need robo-call blocking abilities. If not then my only recourse is to disconnect my phone service and this benefits no one.

Have caller id - but annoying calls from unknown telemarketers, esp. during dinner hours/weekends is frustrating - enough!!!

Dennis, MA

NOMOROBO has been a godsend for us. What relief. BUT, it was like pulling teeth to get COMCAST to help set it up. Their instructions were terrible. Their "customer service" knew nothing about it. Only with a dedicated tech person were we able to get it to work after a few WEEKS !!

This should AND CAN be much easier to do.

These guys won YOUR award. So what's the problem here?

I understand that any new technology may not be perfect, but right now I just need to see a real reduction in the obnoxious robocalls that interrupt my daily activities and introduce me to scammers.

The phone companies should be taking the lead, not making excuses for why they can't do anything.

As a customer, I want all the phone companies to investigate and then implement technology solutions to the robocall problem that will stop the unwanted robocalls before they get to me.

Oak Ridge, TN

I am tired of getting these robocalls. The carriers need to provide opt out solutions for their customers.

Stop Robocalls! They are intrusive, not to mention more times than not, a scam. The callers have been rude, and often are in India, so they're unintelligible to boot.

NO MORE ROBOCALLS!!!

Buzz & Diane Sweat
Arvada, CO

I'm writing not only in support of NoMoRobo call blocking capabilities, but to encourage you to tighten up on regulations to allow customers to more effectively block as many types of junk calls as possible. NoMoRobo has done an adequate job as far as it goes, and in conjunction with configurable call blocking based on the originating number I've been able to block many unwanted calls.

However, telemarketers are now switching tactics rendering NoMoRobo less effective. Number spoofing is becoming widespread and should be banned except for those rare cases where it is necessary to safeguard an INDIVIDUAL'S safety, and in these cases it should be necessary to obtain specific authorization.

I believe it should be a right of all people who choose to have phone service NOT to be harassed by businesses and organizations which they do not wish to hear from. This will require ongoing vigilance to provide the technical and regulatory solutions necessary to maintain our rights to privacy.

Sincerely,

Paul Panish, Stephanie Hall

I don't want Robo calls for any reason. I have functioned wonderfully without Robo calls and was a lot less annoyed. Not including wasting MY time picking up the phone for a useless call. Robo calls are only a benefit to the company making the call for marketing purposes. This move to illuminate NomoRobo calls service is an effort to use government to enhance certain private sector companies marketing at the expense of the public.

DO NOT ILLIMINATE NOMOROBO CALLS type services. If a person wants to receive these annoying calls, he can agree to do so through his/her choice.

I AM SICK OF ROBO CALLS! I GET AT LEAST 6 A DAY ON MY HOME PHONE AND I AM ON THE DO NOT CALL LIST (FIGURE THAT OUT...) DO NO APPROVE ROBO FOR CELL PHONES!!!!!!!!!! WE DESERVE PRIVACY, AND THEY HAVE MANY OTHER OPTIONS TO ADVERTISE AND MARKET WHATEVER THEY ARE SELLING! WE ARE SICK OF THIS!!!

I receive so many of these annoying phone calls, day and night, they became impossible to block with just my phone. Most of the time, they do not even leave a message, only to call later. I installed RoboCall blocking and immediately obtained 'peace of mind' stopping >75% of these terrible calls. By the way, I vote city, state, and nationally and have a good memory!

ALL unwanted calls are an obnoxious annoyance and there should be tools available to consumers to block those UNWANTED calls. The National Do Not Call Register is all but useless!!!

Jacksonville, FL

I am soooo tired of the endless robocalls ... about credit card deals, car donations, etc. Selecting their "hit number x to be taken off our list" does NOT work.

There is no legitimate reason that these companies (often using phony phone numbers for caller ID display) should be allowed to continuously harrass us. What happened to the DO NOT CALL list serving as a deterrent ... obviously that didn't work.

PLEASE take action.

I cannot believe that the FCC is going to allow robocalls to my cell phone. It is bad enough that I have to listen to the 5-10 calls that I get every day, for products that I am never going to purchase or use, without now getting them while I go about my life during the day. Stop this now.

Robo calls are the single most annoying thing I have to deal with on a daily basis. I have tried to hone my skills at screening these calls to avoid them, but despite my best efforts, they keep coming. They interrupt my work day, meals, and family time. Please make sure robo calls stop.

Anything to keep these friggin companies from wasting my time and money (minutes)

Please do allow them to keep telemarketing on cells. I'm signed up for call block on land line. What a joke, made no diff.

Desert Hills, AZ

Thanks to robocalls and other unsolicited telephone calls, I don't answer the phone if I don't recognize the caller's number. I use Nomorobo to reduce the number of robocalls and I love the product. I believe consumers should have more access to Nomorobo and similar solutions.

JB Garner
Atlanta, GA

I keep getting robo calls even though I have signed up to be on the NO CALL list. Seems to be the same companies over and over. I think that the phone companies should do background checks on all companies that apply for a block of phone numbers. Especially over and over. Companies should have to provide phone companies with a ABA certificate that explains their purpose for numerous phones #'s. And they should randamonaly call these numbers to be sure that they are used for the purpose intended.

Brenda Smith

Please do not eliminate Nomorobo. I was ready to disconnect my home phone that I have had for over thirty years because unwanted calls were becoming intolerable. With Nomorobo I sometimes go days without getting a single annoying sales call. So please do not do anything that would cause Nomorobo to stop.

William Pruett
Atlanta, GA

This is getting ridiculous. The DO NOT CALL list is a joke.

I have purchased a call blocker that will hold 1200 numbers. When I block a number all these crooks do is go to the phone company and get a new set of numbers and/or spoof existing numbers INCLUDING my own phone number. I am averaging eleven spam calls a day in a rural community in a rural state.

The phone company is making money off this thing. They are not going to block calls unless forced to by the government because of this.

The worst part is MOST of the people calling are NOT selling a legitimate product. They are crooks trying to trick people into giving out private data, spend Medicare's money on things people do not need, gain control of people's computers by acting like they are from Microsoft, etc.

AT&T provides software to block JUNK email why should they not provide a means to block SPAM calls as well?!

Okmulgee Oklahoma

As Americans, we should have the right to protect our privacy from unwanted, unsolicited contact by companies, organizations, charities, religions, POLITICIANS and POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS. After all, they do not take calls if they do not wish to speak to the common (wo)man.

Please protect the individual's right to privacy.

Dorothea Wykes

Please help us to block those annoying robocalls. The worst are the supposed life-saving medical device calls that don't even give us the option of a dialing-out number. That alone tells me these callers are dishonest. They also use many different calling numbers to make any other blocking methods difficult to use. The phone companies should be fined heavily unless they provide us robo-call blocking capability.

Stan. Jacobs

Robocallers are actually breaking our phone system, by causing people to ignore any and all phone calls from numbers they don't recognize. Robocallers steal our most precise commodity -- time -- and increase our daily stress levels, all for a minuscule fractional dollar benefit to cynical scammer "businessmen".

Nothing is more annoying than running to catch the ringing phone, only to be met with an annoying telemarketing pitch. Recently, I was rushing to answer my phone, I tripped over a throw rug, and, wound up with a lump the size of an orange on my forehead. Because I was expecting an important call, I answered the phone. As I answered the call, I could see my forehead bulging, only to hear a recorded message telling me why I need their 'free' home security system. I receive numerous calls daily, and, I would be thrilled to have these calls stop.

stickney, illinois

Please make roboblocking easier. Yesterday I got a scam call from someone offering to "fix" problems with my computer while I'm in front of it. They even gave me a phone number to call them back at, 888-577-4003.

Others have reported this over many months, but yet it continues so apparently can't be shut down. The only effective option is to allow consumers to protect themselves.

Kevin Johnson, Nancy Rogier

I get 5-10 robocalls a day and I wish it would stop. I am so frustrated that I am thinking about giving up my land line because it happens at all hours of the day/night. PLEASE make it stop. I don't know why I have to be constanatly bothered but these calls. I can't even tell them to take me off their list because when I pick up the phone, no one is there.

I thought the FCC was in place to govern over communication. Clearly RoboCalls are an abuse of communication.

I detest them. They are an invasion in every way possible. Having moved to a new state I required a telephone. I pay each month. 99% of the calls received are from telemarketing and from creditors! Even after explaining that I am the owner of this telephone number and not who ever they are seeking they CONTINUE, daily (at least 7 times) throughout the day. TWC tells me I can Block the number - the response they start calling from another. I feel as though a prisoner from 7AM until 10PM daily. Sometimes we receive calls on weekends. I WANT THIS TO STOP!

Please help that no robo works.

Stephen Allen
San Antonio, TX

We have been on the federal no call list for many of years. We started reporting calls to the federal agency but they kept coming, up to 25-30 robocalls per day. Many days the same caller would call up to 3-4 times per day. This was a huge invasion of our privacy and kept us on edge during and after the calls. Nomorobo has helped cut the calls to a minimum so that we now sometimes we go a full 24 hours without a robo call. Please allow this service to continue. It has changed our life immensely.

Gail Gardner

I cannot stand robocalls. Even political ones. Nomorobo has made my life a bit better by blocking these annoying calls.

The year before I got robocall, I sent the FTC over 100 Do Not Call complaints. It was a waist of time because not one of the callers were cut off. I know because we kept getting the same calls over and over usually with new phone numbers. We still get 2 to 3 calls a day. But robocall, stops 6 to 7 per day. We need more effective and expanded robocall call blocking not its elimination. Phone blocking is absolutely necessary to protect our right to privacy and should be encouraged, not eliminated by pressure from special interest groups.

My home phone receives way too many phone solicitations even though I have registered it with the "Do Not Call" registry. There have been months that the number of robocalls is at least 80+ which is almost 3 per day. My phone still receives many robocalls but at least I get some relieve after signing up for nomorobo to block the robocalls. It is a shame that companies keep calling and calling my phone even though they have been blocked. Please allow the homeowner to be able to block unwanted calls.

NOMOROBO HAS BEEN A GOD SEND. I USED TO GET 5 TO 10 CALLS A DAY AND NOW RARELY EVER GET ANY. THEY INTERRUPT DINNER AND OTHER ACTIVITIES WITH CALLS I DO NOT WANT. We had the robocall blocking feature on our former Uverse phone system and were well pleased with the way it blocked many unwanted calls. We have since switched to Consumer Cellular but they do not have the multi-line feature to allow blocking robocalls. It would be only fair to allow this feature on all phones, in fact, due to the amount of unwanted calls, it should be mandatory. I do miss this feature.

I strongly favor allowing organizations such as nomorobo to continue blocking unwanted robo calls. These calls are a misuse of technology and are a definite and, in my opinion, are totally unjustifiable. Please allow nomorobo and similar groups to continue their public service!

John R Shutt, PhD

Since I have been using nomorobo on my home phone, irritating and unwanted calls have essentially ceased. My cell phone, however, continues to receive unwanted calls. I have used several free apps to try to block these calls, but they continue to come through.

These calls come from all area codes and are especially irritating when I'm on another phone call or I am busy. Despite being registered on the Do Not Call list and writing several complaints to your site, these calls continue to happen.

I urge you to try to prevent these calls with any means possible and force all carriers to provide the consumer with relief.

Thank you

Before nomorobo we have endured many unwanted and unsolicited calls that unnecessarily interrupt sleep and other activities. These calls are endured even though we pay a monthly charge to have our phone number unlisted and unpublished. We registered our number on the 'no call' list and that has not provided any relief. These calls abuse our phone service and invade our privacy. I am glad our current phone provider allows the use of nomorobo and very grateful for the service nomorobo provides.

It's disturbing to me when personal home phone numbers are "hijacked" for use by telemarketers & Robo callers -- when I see an individual's name/number on my caller ID & it turns out to be a robo call (I know this because I redial & get a home machine or individual....my own number has been used to call me) -- I am overly concerned about the lack of 'security' on phone lines. This is not different than computer hacking & something needs to be done - Services like Comcast should NOT publish home/personal numbers, when assigned (I received at least 10 calls per day for a month after receiving a new number) - it's ridiculous

I want the ability to block robocalls. They are obnoxious and invasive. It is beyond irritating to get up to answer the phone only to have a hang up, no one there, or a recorded message that is supposedly illegal since I am on the do not call list.

Byron Nickerson
Glenmoore, PA

To think that our government has so little concern for its citizens concerning basic privacy and to allow shady and mostly illegitimate companies to harass and fleece us is beyond disappointing. Plus many of these telemarketers are only trying to get personal info from people in an attempt to steal their identity. Mostly they like to target our elderly hoping they will make a bad decision. The phone companies only care about the money. I can only block 10 phone numbers on my service but the telemarketers keep changing their numbers. When I complained to the Attys. General office I saw thousands of complaints like mine. You at the FCC work for the people not the phone co. Stop robocalling now or find a job you are more suited for.

I constantly get calls from unknown numbers showing up on my caller ID. Even when I answer them and are ask to press a certain number to be removed, they constantly call back. Just like the internet where I can unsubscribe from unwanted emails, I too should be able to "unsubscribe" from robocalls. To whom it may concern, Blocking Robocalls is the best thing that could have happened to my family. No more constant interruptions. The Do not call list does not stop political calls, charity calls and pretend surveys that are really sales calls. Robot calls are discourteous as most of the time they are merely trying to establish a time you are home to then sell this information or get the salesperson to call you then. In my opinion, robot blocking should be standard on all telecomm lines. The phone companies should not be allowed to block robot calls to generate more income for themselves.

Many thanks,

We are on the do not call list. Despite this, we still get many telemarketing and robocalls (sometimes as many as five or six a day). These calls are getting more sophisticated - often looking like legitimate cell phone numbers or "spoofing" other numbers (like our own telephone number).

I have a neurological disorder and get truly hassled and aggravated by these calls. Some try to scare you like the home security calls ("ok, if you just want to leave your home unprotected..."). My husband works a very demanding job and has a lot less patience for them than me. Many callers are courteous, but some are rude. Even if they were all polite, it is unsolicited and we do not want to keep explaining that "We are on the do not call list, please take us off of your list" only to have it be seemingly ignored. Worse, when it is a robocall - we do not have that option - the call receiver is often just "talked at" by a computer and unless one wants to listen to the pitch and follow their prompts (if there are any) our only option is to hang up.

This being said, my husband and I were looking for a more effective solution than the do not call list. This used to keep them at bay, but lately it does not seem to. Nomorobo has been wonderful, and not just for us. I recommended it to my retired parents, some of their friends (including one who had fallen for a scam from a fake charity call), some of my friends (most of whom are working parents). None of us want to be bothered by these people and all of us have been thrilled with the "filtering" that nomorobo provides. The phone will ring once before being blocked, so I will sometimes check the number to be sure.

We haven't had one instance where the blocked number didn't have multiple complaints associated with it. All our other calls are going through fine, we just don't get hassled as much anymore. Please, don't take away this incredibly helpful service. These calls are unwanted nuisances spanning the hours of 8 am to 11 pm! We see it as an invasion into the peace in our homes. Please support services like nomorobo - right now they are actually helping to make a difference.

Please, please, please stop the robo callers!! I've been thinking of tossing my phone out altogether just to have some peace of mind. Unfortunately, that would leave me vulnerable so please help!

I think you should outlaw all unsolicited robocalls. While robocalls are useful reminders of Dr appts and other info from organizations where I have an established relationship, the vast majority of the others are useless at best and usually outright annoying.

At the very least, blocking services like Nomorobo should remain legal. It's my choice to opt out of robocalling, and preserving services like this is essential.

I receive multiple calls per day, several days per week from spoofed numbers and/or telemarketers. I do not answer and they do not leave voice mail message. My phone number is registered on the DoNotCall.Gov web site. I also have my phone number set up with NoMoRobo.Com web site. When I receive these calls, for each and every one I file a DoNotCall.Gov web site complaint, I file an FCC Form 1088 complaint, and I record the number with NoMoRobo.Com. Yet despite these DAILY efforts these asinine calls continue. So what is a concerned citizen suppose to do short of changing their home phone number? Isn't this type of activity a form of harassment? When you answer the call and tell the caller "Please place my number on your 'Do Not Call' list" the caller will just hang up, laugh and hang up, swear and hang up, and call back and harass you with swearing. My mother-in-law received a call, asked the caller politely "Please place my number on your 'Do Not Call' list" and the caller cursed, hung up, and proceeded to call back and curse and hang up 8 times after that. Can't something be done? Local police don't care, they'll tell you to change your number. Obviously putting yourself on the DoNotCall.Gov web site, on the NoMoRobo.Com web site, and filing DoNotCall.Gov and FCC Form 1088 complaints do not do any good, the calls just keep on coming.

Despite being on 'do not call registers', we continue to get multiple junk, commercial, solicitation calls each day. 'Credit Card Services' is among the worst offenders. The combination of our digital phone service and the 'nomorobo' service has been a virtual godsend. It reduces our sprints to the phone only to find out it is a boiler room call operation. Please put an end to these robo calls!!!!!!! I find it incredulous that the FCC cannot or does not wish to enforce existing rules/regulations. Shame on you! Please enable 'nomorobo' to continue to serve the public if you cannot!

We have an unlisted phone #, but still get up to 8-10 calls a day, which are unsolicited. Half the time, when I answer, the robo-caller already found some other "sucker" to answer, & I get no response at the opposite end. If I do get a person, and ask to be removed from their call list, they disconnect before I can finish statement, and I continue to get calls from that #.

The American public is being constantly badgered, and we want this to stop !!!

I am disabled and have a hard time sleeping.. The amount of ROBO calls that we receive is disgusting. After YEARS of getting these calls, we refuse to answer the phone . Today, so far, I have heard from a Septic Tank Company that I have never done business with, 3 calls from groups that have blocked their number from us and Consumer Credit Services [however that name changes from time to time]. The day is young and I expect to receive many more. We are seriously considering taking our phone out [even with my medical problems] because we are being held hostage to these constant calls. We are on both the state and national DO NOT CALL LIST & in the beginning I reported the calls to the FCC with no results. I NEVER answer my phone now because the caller ID is manipulated to show not only my name but also family member names as the people who are calling but it is a ROBO call instead. I have 12 of the most used numbers blocked because that is all my phone service will allow otherwise I would have an extensive list of blocked numbers.

These people are criminals that need to be prosecuted with extensive jail time for breaking the DO NOT CALL laws. Fines will not work because they will just leave and set up elsewhere to do their harassment. However, I hold the FCC responsible for not going after these people otherwise we wouldn't be in this situation.

We hate getting interrupted by robocalls all day everyday including weekends. They start at 8:30 am and continue until around 9pm. It has gotten so bad that we don't want to answer our phone. There needs to be some way to block these calls. They are getting worse every year!

Robocalls are a nuisance, and is a big problem for the elderly, and for people who have disabilities. Robocall blocking products would be welcome. I have been signed up at the National Do Not Call Registry, which doesn't prevent robocalls. I would appreciate the ability to block all nuisance calls.

It is beyond appalling that we must ask to have legislation enacted to stop this robocalling. These are our PRIVATE home and business phones. We pay the bills and yet have nearly no control over incoming calls, their nature and their frequency.

We should have to give consent. Yet, to date, you have allowed us to be violated at every time and turn. We are helpless victims.

I urge you to change this for us and I fear you won't.

I am frustrated by the amount of robocalls we get at home and on our cells even though we are on the do not call list for all our numbers. I am willing to do whatever it takes to stop these calls. The automated calls that come to my house cause so much disruption that it is at the level of harassment. People should not be subject to harassment, especially in their own homes. Please do something to allow us to block these calls.

STOP THE ROBOCALLS!! They are driving me crazy! They now have changed their gimmicks so that you don't know if the call is private or a robocall. Many stop using the company name and instead just list a phone number, or they show on the monitor as "private caller-out of area". They are not a private caller and often not out of the area. Isn't that just plain lying? Please get rid of these nuisance phone calls.

STOP robo calls. Everyone hates them, EVERYONE!

Robo calls are responsible single handedly for millions of dollars in monetary losses both by way of scam artists and lost productivity. With documented cases of almost 10 telemarketing calls per day, this should be treated as a serious violation of privacy. The parties involved in attempting to reduce phone scams and un-wanted calls (mainly the attorney general), should be taking this opportunity seriously. Furthermore, attempts by industry are needed to assist in reducing call pests, should they be allowed to do so by congressional hearing, this will send a seriously opposing message. Not to mention complete extraction of any efforts by a third party company to help in these efforts. A blatant example would be nomorobo.com , should they be forced out of the market after investing such time and money into a terrific product, who will bother to even work with you in the future on this matter?

It should be easy and simple to block all robocalls to a landline or cellphone. Why would I agree to to have constant calls in which I have no interest. Of course, it is a great way for scams to proliferate but I see no other benefit. Robocalls should be explicitly banned.

We are so thankful we found out about nomorobo. We are recent enrollees and what peace it has brought our home. We are retired and are so tired of answering the phone only to find out it is some company trying to save us money on our credit card which is non-existent or a medical alert system that we supposedly wanted. It is an invasion of our privacy to keep getting these harassing phone solicitations. We implore you to allow nomorobo to continue. We are only sorry we can't enroll our cell phones, these scamming companies are starting to call on our cell phones.

There is no constitutional right to annoy or harass. Please make sure that consumers have access to protective phone technology that's as powerful as the marketers' harassing technology.

Robocall blocking solutions are essential for all Americans, because robo-callers are now using automated dialing systems to dial thousands of phone numbers per second to harass unsuspecting consumers. We are plagued every day and evening by robocalls. It is maddening because I work at home, and the constant calls also intrude into our ability to enjoy our family life. We're signed up on the "Do Not Call List" and our number's unlisted but it has made no difference--the calls just keep coming. Please give us a way to block robocalls! Thank you!

Los Angeles, CA

If I want to be solicited, I want to initiate the contact. I don't need random calls offering services that I don't want or need. Also, modern technology allows scammers to change or spoof their callback numbers, virtually making the Do Not Call list a laughing joke.

If a company must resort to robocalls, then they don't value me as a customer. I'm just the next caller on the line. I would 100% subscribe to robocall blocking on all of my phones if it were available. I'd even pay for it.

I don't know of anyone who would decline robocall blocking.

Here are the reasons we think robocall blocking is a good thing:

it stops robo calls that harass you, it stops distracting you from important tasks, It gives you a way to limit the robocallers, it helps you feel more in control of your own life, it keeps you away from scams, and it gives you peace of mind.

Nomorobo has been wonderful on my home phone which is through Time Warner Cable. So much junk out there and when you do run to pick up the phone, you do not talk to a person. If anyone wants to tell me something, they leave a message, automated calls do not!

I just wish my mobile phone which is T-mobile would adopt nomorobo as well, as I pay as you go, rather than a monthly fee. All the "junk" calls just use up my money.

Robo calls are an interruption in my day and evening that is very frustrating and I can not believe that there is nothing I can do to stop them from calling. There are so many of these unsolicited calls that I have threatened to have my land line removed from my home. And, to make it completely clear, I would NEVER do business with a company that calls in this manner or one who ignores my "do not call" listing with the government!

Hemet, California

Robo calls should be outlawed. Sometimes I get 3 or 4 a day from the same vendors. Answering the phone only encourages them; ignoring them just makes them call back; Listening to the end of their spiel only wastes my time, because they don't really allow me to delete my number from their data base. The Arkansas Attorney General has been pretty good about going after these predators and shutting them down, but they only change their names and start over. The only thing that will help is to make it uneconomical to do business by levying hefty fines for continuing to sponsor robocalls. Please put a stop to this.

I've had my home phone listed on the National No-call list for several years now. I'm still getting inundated with calls from various groups. First of all if you have registered on the "do not call" list, robo calls should be illegal. The problem is the FCC has no way to monitor or enforce what they claim to do and the robo callers know this. There needs to be teeth behind the "do not call" list and enforce the laws already in place. With the technology today the phone numbers of these callers are available and traceable so why is this not done! Plus the penalties are minor compared to the return they receive from the people they scam.

Enforce the "do not call" list and put teeth behind the penalties imposed.

I've received over 10 calls a day from advertiser and callers who simply did not leave a message. Since I've signed up for NOMOROBO, I receive maybe 1 a week which isn't intercepted. I do report them and I do highly recommend this service to all my friends - for which they are truly grateful.

I have contacted my phone company requesting that my phone be unlisted. Interestingly enough, they charge for my phone to be unlisted (which seems counter intuitive to me).

Why should I be disturbed or hounded within my own home? What gives businesses the right over my privacy and peace of mind? Why should I pay for unsolicited phone calls?

NOMOROBO (are a facsimile thereof) should be available on land lines as well as cell phone.

Please consider this request when ruling on this matter.

robocalls are more than a nuisance ... especially to someone of my age who has to get up and to the phone when it rings. STOP robocalls

I urge you NOT to permit semi-automated blocking of calls (as provided by NoMoRobo) without requiring individual human review of each blocked number. Should the FCC allow such blocking, I suggest the FCC require all blockers to provide users of phones to get their phone numbers white-listed WITHOUT CHARGE or undue delay.

My 40-year experience on the Internet, and 30-year computer system administrator experience dealing with spam email provides me with the experience to know that calling-number spoofing must be solved before deploying a technology that is based on blocking phone numbers without review as to whether the blocking is warranted. Imagine if some terrorist organization or some disgruntled person chose to impersonate phone numbers of important services, using them to make particularly obnoxious calls. The automation of such spoofing would be rather easy to pull off; the likelihood that all the spoofed numbers would be blocked is very high. The potential of massive denial of service attacks is obvious. I wonder if the business end-game of NoMoRobo is to charge an arm and a leg for businesses and individuals to white-list their phone numbers on a (say) yearly basis. What constitutes extortion?

Of course robocall blocking should be available! A telemarketer's right to call should not supersede my right to choose not to accept these calls. Since my long standing policy is never to do business with a telemarketer anyway, allowing me to opt out not only keeps them from harassing me, but allows them to focus on potential customers so that they don't have to waste time on me. There is no benefit to them in allowing them to call me -- there is only harm to me. Robocall blocking is an important consumer choice that should be protected.

Robocall service has been an excellent service in screening out bothersome calls that interrupt dinner, sleep, etc. unnecessarily.

Virginia Carver

I think we should have the right to listen to the calls we want. Telemarketing is annoying and are always trying to sell something we do not want anyway. I should not have to listen to the answering machine beep because some telemarketer wanted to get through and then not leave a message. Telemarketers call all hours of the day and night.

I really like Nomorobo. We finally have peace at dinner time, and when we are trying to talk to each other, (family time) and I don't have to listen to the phone ring and the junk they are trying to sell. We should be able to block any call we want. Also many of these people take advantage of the elderly through scare tactics and other methods. Let us have peace in our household and block these calls.

The reasons given for stopping the blocking are absurd. WE THE PEOPLE are able to control what calls we want to receive. Some LOBBYISTS must be working their magic! Try asking the PUBLIC if they want to allow robocalls--the answer will be a HUGE NO. They are intrusive,annoying and disturbing. Perhaps we should all rid ourselves of our land lines - wouldn't the phone companies love that!

My wife and I receive multiple robocalls every week at various times of the day and evening. I am unable to get them to stop so I signed up for NOMOROBO. I understand that the FCC is not preventing the telephone companies from preventing NOMOROBO to block my calls.

Robocalls are extremely annoying and always come at the most inopportune times. I take it as an invasion of privacy and the public should have a way of stopping them. I would also venture that the majority of them are scams which should not be allowed to operate on public systems.

Frankly, I've had it with spoofed telephone numbers, companies pretending to be a political survey companies and calls from company that I habitually complain about with no action on the part of the no-call list site. Older Americans are continually sought-after by these no-counts. Why isn't there more action on the part of the FCC? It seems that ignoring the elephant in the room is the only action I see on the part of the FCC. The charlatans are also afraid of companies such as Nomorobo which is a free service. In fact, major companies actively fight to prevent a stoppage of their annoying legitimate rule-bending calls. Please log this letter of complaint as an encouragement to look into this growing problem. I've just begun to get them on my cell-phone with call-blocking and do-not-call registration. Thank you.

Robocall's are extremely annoying to say the least. I have caller ID and the ability to block incoming calls which helps to a point. However, I am noticing that many of these annoying callers use several different phone numbers which means I am constantly having to add more and more blocked numbers which quickly depletes the set amount of blocked callers I have available on my phone. I also have a cell phone and receive what I call robovoicemail which is not only annoying but these incoming calls subtract from MY account because I pay for them. Something needs to be done and done quickly to put a stop to these robo(younameit) calls! I have even tried to call back some of these robocallers and tell them to remove my phone number but since they are "robocalls" and are electronic there is no one at the other end to talk to. By the way, fat lot of good the infamous "Do Not Call" list has done. I entered both my home and my cellphone numbers on that list when it was first introduced and I STILL get just as many, if not more, calls from all the same people this list was supposed to block. Wonderful!!

we have used a robo-call blocker for several months, and have found it to be a godsend in that it has reduced (not eliminated) intrusions by a variety of solicitors. Rather than entertain removing, or reducing this capability, we think it needs to be enhanced, and be required by all carriers as part of their basic telephone service, at no additional charge. Please keep in mind, we pay for the phone service; not a business, charity or political candidate. Hence, we should decide how it is to be used. As an aside, the "Do Not Call List," which we are a part of, needs better enforcement.

I wonder why the government continues to invade my privacy? I am the one that pays the bills on my phone therefore I should be the one to decide who I want to call me. I don't want to have to contact anyone to have the calls stopped. I want a way to stop them myself.

Please allow me to continue to use the method of my choice to stop these calls.

Please do everything you can to make phone companies provide, at no cost to customers, the option of blocking robo calls. Solutions, such as that offered by Nomorobo, should be made available to all as part of basic phone service.

These calls come all day or night. My husband has health problems and these calls often wake him when he finally falls asleep. Most people are going to hang up on them any way and the ones that don't may be scammed. This is an invasion of our privacy. It needs to stop.

Although our number is on the National Do Not Call Registry, the number of robocalls to our home has increased significantly in recent years. The callers are selling everything from timeshares to home monitoring systems to insurance. Many of these calls seem designed to prey on the fears of the elderly.

Often the caller ID is simply a number or some deceptive text, making the calls difficult to screen. Since I work at home, my day is frequently interrupted.

I would like more tools to block these calls.

I am on the "Do Not Call List" and let me tell you - it does not work!! I've contacted the Attorneys General office in Illinois, registered complaints and called the 800 number, registering complaints and NOTHING works!! I'm at a loss as to what to do next. Now I answer the phone (not saying a word) and disconnect the call if I don't recognize the calling number, that doesn't work, they call back. I've listened to the entire speech, pushed the #3, 9 or whatever they suggest to be taken off their calling list. NOTHING WORKS!!!!

Those robocalls are so annoying; enough to drive me insane! They just never let up from morning 'till night! Even with the Nomorobo in place on my phone, they just keep changing their phone # to avoid detection.

I've had to resort to turning the ringer off just to have peace and quiet in my own home. And then I run the risk of missing important calls. I'm fed up with being held hostage in my own home by these telemarketer robocallers!! FCC, PLEASE DO SOMETHING!!!!!!

I welcome robocalls blocking, because it can prevent unwanted calls and provide a sense of security from sick minded people. I have be getting call from someone who calls himself a profit and constantly leaves voice messages on my phone from numerous phone numbers outside my calling area. I don't know who is this person, I am not able to speak with this person to ask them to stop calling my home, the numbers are numbers i can call back. So why should these sick people have the advantage over the person home they are invading. Why should my life be at risk, why should i be afraid to answer my phone, why should i have to loose my life and many others before something can be done to stop these unwanted calls? Tell me Why?

Like many Americans these days, especially the middle-aged, I am cobbling together a livelihood by working at home, doing contract work etc. So I need a land line for business purposes. Yet there have been times when I have received more than 15 robo calls per day on my land line. Naturally I have added the phone numbers from these calls to the FCC complaint site, though as you know nothing comes of that. Now that I am able to use NOMOROBO calls have virtually stopped. I cannot believe there would be any opposition from the FCC or for that matter phone companies to the NOMOROBO service. In fact, I am considering dropping Verison, who we use for cell phone service, since they so far are not participating in the NOMOROBO program. Comcast, which we use for our land line service, does participate with NOMOROBO. Please do everything you can to stop robo calls, which cost me time, energy and are extremely frustrating. Thank you.

I want robocalls to end. I have stopped answering my home phone because we get so many. I also want robocall blocking solutions more accessible to consumers like me.

Thank you.

Robocalls MUST have the ability to be blocked. Nomorobo has been an excellent tool to prevent the constant ringing of phone calls since the 'Do Not Call' list is a joke. Prior to no Nomorobo, we would get dozens of calls, including at dinner time, with constant ringing. Now, one ring and done. What's great is that the real companies trying to get to me can, if need be. Getting tons of calls from 'Toll Call Free' is annoying as is, and if it's unblocked and these calls are allowed to fully come through, then you are a farce. In addition, it'll probably be the beginning of the end for my land line.

Rory L.

I pay for phone service to benefit my needs, not entities that are soliciting unwanted products/services.

Do you think why older people are hostage to scammers? A little common sense needs to be invoked by the government on our right of privacy.

I can go on and on about the abuses of these robo calls and other unsolicited calls. The "do not call list " is a failure, (a joke, really) and government OK's unwanted calls by taking no action to penalize or improve.

So called Charitable organizations who benefit 70%of the marketeers and administration, instead of 70% going to the cause, must also stop.

There is a problem, do something about it..

Please do not allow the phone companies ,take nomorerobo, services away. I receive per day 7 unwanted callers that I have been unable to stop. Milford, MA

I was getting an average of 10 robo calls to my landline before Nomorobo. After signing up with Nomorobo, I am averaging less than 2 robo calls per day. I think Nomorobo is providing a very important services that FCC has failed to protect US consumers.

The telemarketers would call as early as 8:00 am in the morning and as late as 9:30 at night. Some are threating scam phone calls from "the IRS". I am registered with the DO NOT CALL list with the national DONOTCALL list and with the California Attorney General's list. When I informed the telemarketers I am registered with the DO NOT CALL lists, the good ones would just hang up, some would just laugh, and some would just cursed me on the phone. These are lawless companies that do not care about the DO NOT CALL list.

If the FCC is actually interested with protecting the consumers, DO SOMETHING about it. If you cannot do anything about it with regulation, and enforcement, let companies like Nomorobo to protect US consumers with an extra layer of protection.

I was getting ready to jerk out my home phone listed with the same number for over fifty years. State and Federal No Call registration, even paying a fee and reporting abuse as well as harassment, proved about as useless as tits on a boar hog, Then I found NOMOROBO and immediate relief beginning with day one. They are doing a much needed service for FREE that Gov can't or won't do even though i'm sure their budgets have generous items devoted to provide such. LET BE.

Robocalls are a nuisance. The "do not call list" is not working. NOMOROBO really works but the phone companies need to change their systems to allow these types of blocking products to work. It's my phone and I should have a say in who can call me

Jack Webster

Despite being on the do not call list, my phone rings constantly with unwanted calls. I should be able to have peace and quiet in my home by being able to block unwanted calls. Even using caller ID and letting unknown calls go to voice mail is too much of an intrusion. Using a robocall blocking product has been great. I should have the right to continue using such a product since the do not call lists are not effective.

Becky Boydston

Robocalls and the hundreds of other unwanted solicitations received on my phone are an intrusion into my life. If I want to buy something or donate to someone, I would do so on my own. Interrupting my life to answer these unwanted calls is annoying and should be stopped.

It is my cell phone so I think I should be able to block any calls I want including political and charity calls. I am also tired of the robo calls that call and tell me to press a number like I am the one that called them. Automated computer voice soliciting calls (robocalls) that come at all hours of the day and night are an outrageous violation of our right to own a phone line with peace and harmony. I strongly support allowing any and all mechanisms to prevent robocalls to our home telephone. Telephone companies make money by facilitating robocallers and then make money by selling their own limited blocking systems to the consumer. The FCC's National Do Not Call Registry simply does not work, I registered and still was getting greater than 10 solicitations a day. Please allow and facilitate 3rd party systems such as Nomorobo to operate unfettered to assist the consumer to prevent robocalls.

Harry Malech

Only by using robocall blocking products am I successful in stopping robocalls to my private phone number. I am on the Do Not Call list, but that does not stop the robocalls. Even the robocall blocking products cannot stop them all! Yesterday alone, I had three (3) calls that slipped through the system. I know that does not sound like much, but when you begin multiplying them by what it used to be before we had a product that stopped them, some days we received up to 10 or more. Very annoying!!!!

Please listen and do something.

Rita Settle

Before installing nomorobo, I received no less than 5 phone calls EVERYDAY from telemarketers and just plain criminals looking to take advantage of less savvy computer users. After installing nomorobo, that number has dropped to one or less. The only reason I keep my landline is that I need to provide a number for registration with new companies and websites and providing them with my mobile number is unacceptable as the telemarketing would just move from my home to my side, 24-7. Not allowing me to block calls would force me to quit subscription to a landline service and provide a bogus phone number to any new websites or businesses I deal with.

I am fed up with Robocalls. I work out of my home and have two telephone numbers, both of which get Robocalls day and night. I walk with a cane and it is really maddening to rush to the phone and find out it is someone who wants to sell me something I am not the least bit interested in. Some of the callers don't take no for an answer and want to know why I don't buy the product or service. ROBOCALLERS need to be blocked because they are intrusive, persistent, aggressive, and rude. They never take NO for an answer.

Diamond Bar, CA

In 2014, robo-calling reached a peak on our home phone; perhaps 8-10 per day at all hours. Sadly, 2014 was also when my wife was terminally ill with lung cancer and we needed phone access to doctors and hospice workers. I had attempted to stop the calls by the "press 3" that they stated, but it only confirmed that they had a live number and the calls increased. Even pleading with their reps only had them laughing and hanging up. I even had them interfere with funeral arrangements!

These are not business people, simply heartless, greedy scum, determined to steal our bank account information or credit cards. They can and must be stopped.

I realize that this is a poor time to suggest a meeting of the minds of Congress, however these calls are harassment and should be outlawed. If changes in the law are necessary, I cannot see any reason why they cannot be implemented.

I get many robocalls on a daily basis, while I am at work, while I am sleeping, during all hours of the day.

These are automated robocalls from companies that do not have a legitimate business purpose. Many of them claim to help lower credit card rates, but I dont have a credit card? How did they get my number? I'd like to be able to block them from calling me over and over again.

It is very annoying

Dear Sirs,

I think it is wrong that "we the people" should be constantly (what amounts to) harassed by the phones in our homes. Maybe they are not calling out as a solicitor would do in front of a store but they certainly are calling out when they ring and we have no escape. I find this especially annoying as someone who is often trapped at home as a result of intractable epilepsy. Nomorobo has been a blessing to me in stopping the constant calls with the especially annoying hang-ups on the answering machine. Please let services like this continue. The companies that use robocalling aren't even taking the time to use real people to annoy me, why should I, a real person, take my time to be annoyed by them? Kindest regards and please do consider what we the people want.

The number of unwanted phone calls is overwhelming . Sometimes 2 or 3 in a day from the same unknown (to us) parties. When I do pick up and tell them not to call, it does no good - there's nothing but a machine on the other end!

Randolph, NJ

I absolutely want to be able to block robocalls, and not only calls that have a prerecorded message, but also calls that automatically dial number after number and then connect to a human if I answer. My telephone should be for my convenience and that of my friends and family, and not for others to try to sell me something or persuade me to do or to believe something. This should apply not only to landlines but to all phones of all types.

Karen Brady Smith

we are one of the few people we know that still has a land line! we have been seriously considering having it disconnected because of the robocalls! please, please stop this nuisance!

Please stop the ROBOCALLS, especially on my cell phone. I am getting not only unwanted calls but also unwanted text messages. I don't have a text plan so each one of these unwanted text messages cost me 25 cents. I wouldn't mind as much if the ROBOCALLER paid the bill. Please stop the calls.

I get about 10 robo-calls a week. When I answer, 9 out of 10 of them end up hanging up on me before a person says hello. Now, if I called somebody 10 times and hung up on them, they would report me as a crank caller and I'd get a call from the police department. At the very least, they would block my number. So why is it so hard to enforce DNC lists and prevent robo-dialers? I think it is because the phone company sells the lists and then wants to double-dip by charging me to not let the list-buyers call me. That's not right! Just make it easier (and free) for me to block certain kinds of calls. This kind of blocking technology exists on every app I use on my smart-phone, but not the PHONE part? Go figure. Please fix it.

Robo calls should be totally against the law! They are an uninvited invasion of privacy!!! We had as many as 15 per day before before we enrolled in Nomorerobo. Robo calls are NEVER answered at our home. So, the phone call is just an inconvenient interruption to us. If we are sick and trying to sleep, the call wakes us up. If we hurry to the phone because we are waiting for an important call, it is all for nothing. Why should I pay so that they can bother me? I have never purchased anything from a telemarketer and never will. I will in no way encourage them. If any of the phone companies would allow me to block robo calls, I would immediately transfer my phone account to them.

The telemarketing calls have gotten way out of hand. It's time we as consumers PAYING DEARLY for our phone services to have control over who we wish to block. Please allow consumers the right to block robocalls, ALL telemarketing calls, ALL surveys and DEFINITELY ALL politicians from accessing the phone accounts for which we pay our hard earned money. Our evenings had gotten to the point we were unable to get thru a meal or a discussion without the interruption of numerous calls most of which ended up putting us on hold, or simply disconnecting. No more robocalls, PLEASE! These calls are annoying, frustrating and unnecessary. I plead to the FCC to please give us a solution to these calls that constantly end up on the answering machine. Half the time, they are calling from foreign countries and you cannot even understand the person calling, because they cannot speak clear English. In addition to that you never know what they are trying to scam you about. As a tax paying American born citizen, I should have the ability to block these solicitors and scam artists from calling me at home after I have worked all day.

I get at least a dozen telemarketing calls a week, sometimes more. I can skip half to two-thirds of them because NoMoRobo cuts them off before I need to pick up. Without this help I would be spending way too much time answering computerized calls for products and services I don't need or want. I never even speak to a person; I just hang up on a computer. Why should I have to? If I can put a sign on my door that says No Solicitors I should be able to turn unwanted interruptions away from my phone as well.

Robo Calls are an invasion of privacy and I resent them greatly. I can understand someone who makes some cold calls hoping to find a new customer or to gain your vote. Robo calling is not that situation. It is a machinegun approach hoping for a couple of successes out of a million. That's a small success rate of say .0002% with an annoyance rate of almost everyone called. In politics, most folks are pretty party oriented anyway. The only thing that evens up the annoyances is the fact that the opponents are doing Robo Calling too.. If you fail to allow me to block Robo Calls it would have to be to satisfy some sort of political gain. Either the gain of the very politicians who oversee the FCC or those who reward the phone service people for not blocking the calls. Help me restore my right to privacy!!!

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am being bombarded by sales, credit card loan, fishing calls. I can only block 30 on my phone. If you reply back and 'press 1' to remove your name from the calling list, I believe then your number is recorded and SOLD to other vendors. I've tried everything with these calls, including being profane and offensive. If I ask for a callback number EVERY TIME they hang up. And I am a telecommunications engineer, for non informed people, it must be hell. PLEASE allow for local companies (Comcast is who I have) to block the calls, or at least force them to allow companies such as Nomorobo (the one I'm familiar with) be used on their system. I can't use Nomorobo because Comcast puts up technical roadblocks. Thanks

I have had Nomorobo on my land line for several months. I only answer calls from people I know and this service has saved me countless trips to the phone to determine whether I want to talk to some scammer or political group fishing for donations. I don't have time to waste on unwanted callers. Now I want our cell phones protected as well. Robocalls are a violation of my privacy and should not be allowed. Any technology that i can use to prevent them should be made legal and encouraged by the FCC.

Additionally, any company that violates my privacy and calls me with out my permission should be liable for financial penalties and law suits. This includes charities and political organizations.

I get more robo calls than calls from people I know - and I'm supposedly on a "Do Not Call" list. I'm sick and tired of this and it's a waste of my time to answer them. The robocalls are intrusive. I hang up as soon as one starts. And they are not necessarily ones that come from a company that I deal with or have dealt with.

Robo calls should be outlawed in its entirety. It is a form of hacking and a united effort by robo callers could potentially bring down our ability to use our phones for personal calls on a national level.

At a minimum, we should have the ability to easily block robo calls including the first ring signal.

Please allow us the option to block robocalls. They are obnoxious and a big time waster and invasive.
Thank you for your consideration.

My husband and I first heard of Nomorobo well more than a year ago from a neighbor who was enjoying use of it -- including uninterrupted dinner. We were very excited and immediately tried to enroll. I was shocked when we learned that our provider Comcast prohibited it. All my calls to Comcast went nowhere -- their standard line was that they were "looking into making it available." Nearly 100% of all calls we receive are robocalls. Fortunately we have caller ID and can see who is calling. We realize some of these (for example, calls from charities we have contributed to in the past) will not be blocked...but relief from the unwanted, cold-call solicitation robocalls is appropriate. Since we're paying for the phone service we should be able to use this technology. The citizen/customer should be able to make this decision and not be denied by the phone company.

Please help me to be able to block "robocalls". These calls occur at inopportune times and I feel defenseless against them. Often times, if I do not answer, the calls are repeated and I have no way to block them. I am a senior citizen and in declining health and need you to help me eliminate this annoyance and, possible, illegal intrusions into my life.

I had tried for years to stop the multiple, daily robo calls and scams to my home. I tried several times to see if the phone company would allow me to block calls from specific area codes, or calls that were marked PRIVATE or no caller ID. They would not. I knew this was by CHOICE, it clearly is not that hard to recognize a certain area code and simply block that call, but they refused. (Many robo calls are re-routed through Canada or Bahamas), since I don't have friends in those areas I felt that blocking a specific area code was the quickest way to block the calls. I also asked to have any 8 number blocked, no luck there. I then discovered Nomorobo. I honestly didn't think there was much hope it would work, but it did! The results were so successful and immediate that I emailed my friends and relatives about it within 3 days. It is one of the BEST services I have ever used, in terms of improving our family's quality of life. It really works! We no longer have 6+ calls per day coming through and driving us crazy at all hours. I know marketing firms are supposed to not call in early morning or late at night, but they don't follow those rules. I can not imagine why you would ever consider interfering with this great service. I have ZERO faith in the phone companies helping with this problem because they had decades to do so, and they refuse. As usual, I'm sure money is the reason, they must have an financial incentive to not allow folks to block unwanted calls. I am not associated with the phone companies or anyone at Nomorobo, I am just a person who stumbled upon their service and truly appreciates the positive impact it has had on our family's life. My only regret is that they are not allowed to block charity and political calls...so FED UP with those too!

In spite of my early registration on the "do not call" register, followed by multiple calls for help placed with the Federal Trade Commission, I have been continuously harassed by robocalls, and this for many years.

Beyond the sheer annoyance of such calls (and the corresponding wasted time), I have a strong impression that such calls are plainly fraudulent, directed at elderly persons who do not have the knowledge or the mental agility to detect the fraud.

I urge you to require the telephone operators to implement the strongest possible systems and procedures to block such calls.

Please show us that the FCC has the means and the will to take this challenge head on!

Cathy B

I implore you to help me keep my phone number private and to prevent unwanted calls. I have tried keeping my phone number unlisted, registering with the "Do Not Call" registry, and activated the NoMoRobo service to prevent the robocalls. In the past I even had an electronic device on my phone line that produced a tone to imitate a dysfunctional line when my phone line picked up the call, but I had to deactivate this due to the nasty tone it created when I picked up the phone for wanted calls.

Despite use of all of these tactics, I still receive an inordinate amount of unwanted calls, both live person calls and robocalls. Additionally, I live in California, where robocalls are illegal, yet they still occur. It's bad enough that telemarketers ignore the "Do Not Call" registry and have found ways to work around the other preventive methods put in place, but even worse that they use robocalls to invade my peace and quiet.

To be clear, I still receive unwanted calls despite these tactics I have used. I assume the phone would be ringing constantly, however, if I didn't have these methods in place. It is completely unacceptable that so many people have access to my phone number and/or the ability to dial randomly and reach my telephone line when, again, it's not published and it's registered with the "Do Not Call" registry.

I have since deactivated my land line telephone, and our family only uses our cell phones. Unfortunately, we get unwanted calls on the cell phones, too, although not as many as we have with the land line phone. Nonetheless, this is just so frustrating!

Please allow consumers to use whatever means necessary to protect themselves from unwanted callers, particularly robocalls. It's my phone line. I pay for it. It's not a free service that should require me to tolerate unwanted advertising and those who abuse the system to harass and pester people who don't want to be bothered.

Thank you for considering the needs of consumers who do not want to be bothered via telephone.

Respectfully,

Linda Eusebi

Robocalls are an intrusive pariah, an invasion interruption of personal home privacy, are unwanted and should be permanently banned or measures allowed which give the individual the right to elect to block such calls if he or she so desires.

Please let Robocall do their job as requested by carrier subscribers. It is away to stop scams before starting.

Joe Gann
Manassas Va

Robocalls are a nuisance that no telephone customer should have to endure. They come to my phone daily, Sundays included. Sometimes they come as early as 9 in the morning and as late as 9 at night. They are more intrusive than junk mail (both surface and e-mail) because they cause the phone to ring, which disturbs the peace of breakfast, lunch, dinner, family gatherings, etc. I subscribe to a robocall blocking service, and it has helped a great deal by stopping the telephone from ringing after one ring, so that I know not to answer unless there are two or more rings.

The right of individuals to peace and quiet in their homes is far greater than any right that businesses, charities, and fraudsters think they have to disturb individuals with robocalls soliciting them for money.

I fully support robocall blocking products, and I want the FCC to permit them. Furthermore, I want the FCC to crack down on the robocallers. Ban them completely.

Michael Twomey

Are the phone companies crazy!?! Or are they in on the robocall scam themselves??

They haven't done ANYTHING to solve this problem in the past. What makes anyone think they will solve it in the future?!?

Robocall blocking from third parties is CRITICAL and is the ONLY current solution available! The phone companies CAN'T do it or WON'T do it, but the end result is the same: illegal robocalls continue to come daily. They have done NOTHING to stop this in the past.

Please let the third party companies do what they do best, and don't let the phone companies get involved.

I should be allowed to control who calls and block robocalls

To whom it may concern:

When we heard the option to block unwanted, aggressive, nuisance calls may be eliminated we were dismayed. It is unacceptable that commerce has more rights to our private time and how we spend it than we do. When we activated our option to block these types of calls, it was a blessing.

Our life style is irrelevant, however we will say should we lose the option to block these calls that have no respect to family mealtime, rest and illness, day of the week, time of the day, etc. we will be prompted to cancel our phone service. Should we need to purchase an item or access a public service, we know how to locate it. We do not need calls harassing us on end for things we care nothing about. We suspect this will be far more deleterious on commerce than allowing the personal preference on managing noise and nuisance in our private household.

Please do NOT support the elimination of personal choice regarding the calls one chooses to or not to accept in their own home.

Given the preponderance of abuse by telemarketers and the limited means that private citizens have in getting them to desist, consumers plainly require greater means of protecting themselves. Laws enacted to curtail recurrent phone solicitation are largely ineffectual since the offending parties can readily re-incorporate under a new entity before legal sanctions can be brought to bear. The principle is clear-cut: we have the right to decline solicitation and to opt out of being contacted. We pay for the privilege of using our phones, and therefore the right to decline is inherent. Further, the telemarketing industry itself has systematically squandered its own future by relying on automated calling techniques, and deliberately circumventing conventional "do not call" lists. The trend has tarnished the image of traditional sales calls and legitimate marketing methods. I regard systems such as that provided by Nomorobo as a welcome remedy and strongly support their freedom to operate.

My ability to block robocalls should not be restricted by government action. In particular, being able to subscribe to a blocking service, that allows certain calls that are of interest (alerts from government agencies, such as school closings, etc) acts to benefit me.

Conversely, the high number of telemarketing calls, many of them robocalls, ties up my phone when important calls may be denied.

Phone carriers have a reverse incentive to not block calls, since they benefit from the charges.

James Hendrickson
St. Paul, MN

Robocalls are disruptive and just plain annoying. Certainly they should be able to be blocked. There is a better way to do business.

Robbinsville, NJ

Robocalls are an invasion of our privacy. AND it is being done by computers. We as Americans have the right to not be hassled in our homes by telemarketers and/or computers.

If I am allowed to have an unlisted number I should be allowed to block telemarketing calls.

Joseph Baldwin

Please stop the robocalls. They call several times a day, and in a majority of the cases, I answer and no one is even there! Please make them stop. It is frustrating to elderly people who have to get up and answer the phone to be aggravated.

These calls cause so much stress. This is my private phone and I should have the option of those that call me! I am literally sick of it! Why don't you guys do some work and stop this from happening?

I have added our phone numbers to the national do not call list more than one time and sent in complaints but nothing has stopped. It's my right to voice my opinion and your responsibility to see that it stops!

Nancy Franich

We had quit answering our telephone completely due to the ten to twelve robo sales calls we received every day. I do not think it is right that I have to pay for telephone service in order to get telemarketers a resource for their sales pitches. When I read about Nomorobo and signed up for it, it has made a big difference in the junk calls that we receive. I really wish that our government could do something to control the telemarketers and robocalls. The do not call list does not work. The telemarketers do not pay any attention to it.

John Lund

I am so tired of robo calls. They are an insult and an imposition. Why don't you give me the right to determine whom I wish to be in touch with on MY phone. Why should I have to put up with recorded messages on the other end of a phone call? That is insulting and turns me off. I would never patronize any product or service promoted by a robo call. I simply don't answer the phone to them anymore. Thank God for caller ID.

Since being scammed of $3000 a couple of years ago, all via the telephone, we no longer want to conduct any type of business over the telephone -- someone wants to seek our business, they can get in touch with us by mail.

The number of these robocalls seems to be increasing. We have one number that shows up three times a week but which never answers when we pick up the phone, a total waste of our time each time the call comes in.

I am extremely annoyed with robocalls of all kinds including political calls. I consider them an invasion of my privacy and an assault upon my the peace of my home. THEY SHOULD BE ILLEGAL. My telephone is for my personal use and convenience since I am the one who pays for it; it is not for the convenience of any other group or individual.

I have a right to determine who uses my phone. I have a right to determine when I don't want to be disturbed. These myriad disturbing calls start at 8:00 A.M. daily and don't quit until AFTER 9:00 p.m. I DON'T WANT UNSOLICITED PHONE CALLS TO MY RESIDENCE!!

Nomorobo has finally given me the option to shut down these obnoxious intrusions and regain some peace in my home. Nomorobo is a service that I choose to use, and that should be my right. YOU HAVE NO BUSINESS INTERFERING WITH THE NOMOROBO SERVICE! They have been a godsend, and you need to honor the peace and tranquility of my home by keeping your hands off of their service.

LEAVE NOMOROBO ALONE!!! I beseech you to not interfere with the valuable service they provide.

I want to thank the FCC for allowing the blocking of robocalls and want to urge it to expand to every home and business the opportunity of determining what phone calls it would like to receive and what calls it would not. I wearied at being interrupted at mealtime, during dinner with guests and voluminous other times by someone trying to sell me something I did not want. I have been on the Do Not Call list for years but no one pays any attention to it anymore. PLEASE allow blocking to not only continue but also require all providers to extend this privilege by either providing appropriate software themselves or utilized existing software to do so.

Please stop the obnoxious robocalls. I have filled out the form for the NO CALL list and while it helped for awhile it does appear to be rising in frequency. I would really like my government to step in and help us consumers on this matter. I would love to keep my land line as it is easier to speak with my elderly mother on that line. However, with all the robocalls I receive I'm beginning to feel that I am the monthly fee I am charged for this line benefits the robocallers more than me or my family.

Thank you.

I am tired of sales calls, many automated which is even illegal in my home state, interrupting my evenings. I have been on the DO NOT CALL registry since it went online, and yet the calls persist. While a good program, the lack of enforcement makes this relatively useless.

Nomorobo is not even protecting my landline (I signed up so am not sure why), but I plead with you to allow it to work with my cell phone. I get about 7-8 calls everyday on both of my lines, and I am really sick of all of these predators.

I am sick and tired of these "Bone-Heads" that keep getting away with this invasion of privacy. Yes, I keep a record of every call, using caller ID, to see where they are calling from, or the name they are using.....I can see that the numbers are used for a while, then they get another block of numbers the next month or so. Now they are using "Out of Area/Private Caller" and no number appears...How in the heck can they do this ? They are even using the name of "Sears Roebuck" to try to get you to answer..They do not leave any messages ! It's darn time for you guys to lock down these idiots once and for all..

I can't imagine why anyone would want to receive unsolicited robocalls. The popularity of the do-not-call registry attests to that.

I don't know why we get so many robocalls every single day. We are in our 70's and every phone call requires that we get up from what we are doing and answer the phone. I tried just letting the answering machine pick up, but then we are treated to recorded messages or nothing. I try calling back and the phone number is always 'out of service.' We get 10-15 calls a day... we've turned the answering machine back on but this has got to stop. I have installed nomorobocalls in hopes of being able to block calls from businesses that I don't want to hear from. I think I should have that right. The Do Not Call List is useless on these unidentified calls which half of the time have no one on the other end. It's infuriating.

I'm 73, my husband 74, and although we are both well educated, we're not all that into electronics and prefer our land line for Doctors, family and emergencies. My husband is disabled and I'm starting to slow down too. And yet, when the phone rings 7-20 times a day and more when I'm in the basement with laundry, in the kitchen making dinner, tending to my husband or simple trying to sleep in. It's dangerous running up and down steps and just interfering with my life. And my husbands rest.All of this just to tell them I've already found God, have all the magazines we need,don't need any more Insurance, ect.The peace and quiet since we have had "NomoRobo" has been a true blessing, now when it rings, I just stop and listen..one ring and it stops ! What a relief this service is ! Please don't discontinue the peace and quiet and safety of our home. Thank you for your consideration.

I've been harassed for years from ROBO phone calls. Years!

I submitted hundreds of phone numbers to FCC & FTC with not the slightest help in alleviating the problem.

The "real" businesses abide by the law, but the scammers continue without a sign of letting up. For years!

Nomorobo has been a great help. Time Warner cable has a problem with a aspect of this service when Nomorobo was installed, but says it is working on it. That's more than the Government agency's can say.

I just can't believe the Gov't won't step in and end this problem.

I tire of the excuses and inaction.

I want my phone to be for me and my family, not junk callers. We have resorted to silencing our phone to stop the constant disruption of harassing companies that refuse to respect our wishes and current laws. I know many people who have eliminated their land lines all together to escape. Without your action, the same will happen to our cell phones.

FCC, please eliminate robocalls completely, require phone companies to give every customer simple access to effective tools to control their service, and PRESERVE NET NEUTRALITY!

One of the best devices that I own is my robocall blocking device; on a daily basis it easily rids us of 3-5 unwanted and/or unsolicited phone calls. It does such a great job in comparison to being on the "Do Not Call" list that if this was a product to purchase, I would happily buy it without reservation. Please, please, please let us have the right to decide what phone calls we would like to receive; I think that this is a personal decision that should not even require further discussion.

The FCC created the Do Not Call list so that individuals could request that calls not be made to their phones. A great number of companies ignore that list. We probably get more than 15 calls a week from such companies.

Robocalls are also very annoying. We signed up for NoMoRoBo as soon as it became available. It is GREAT!

You need to force the phone companies to provide robocall blocking solutions to consumers.

I think it is an invasion of privacy when your phone rings 5-8 times per day with robo calls. I believe that we should be able to control what comes into our homes, whether it is through our doors or on our telephones. It should be our decision as to what calls we want to receive.

FCC is not doing enough to stop robocalls. I have written over 100 complaints in the past year to the Do Not Call registry, and the only response I have received is "its too hard". Bull! If we can tap the German Chancellor's phone, and can identify the North Koreans as the source of the Sony hacks, then we certainly have the technology to identify and prosecute robocallers. But until the FCC puts its big boy pants on and does its job, we consumers should be allowed to take steps on our own, such as blocking robocalls, including those from politicians.

Robocalls are an invasion of privacy to the ultimate degree. They force their way into my home at most inconvenient times and try to seel/con me into things I did not request. The crime of telemarketing needs to be punishable by DEATH!! I pay for my phones. I reserve the right to be left alone.

When is the FCC going to do what's in the best interest of people instead of what's in the best interest of criminals?

There is no legitimate use of telemarketing INCLUDING ELECTIONS!!.

Pass a strong law now to outlaw all telemarketing forever...

My father is 99 and my mother is 95, they live with us and have their own phone to stay in touch with family and friends. They and we do not need the aggravation of having to answer unwanted calls. We pay for OUR use of OUR phone. Please stop robocalls.

Robocalls are an annoyance and should be illegal. I have any been a victim of spoofing by these criminals. Most if not all robocalls are made by companies that are taking advantage of the elderly with their calls. I sometimes wonder why I even keep a land line, since I simply do not answer any numbers that I do not know, not even local ones. I am considering dropping my land line and only using my cell. I feel that if everyone would do the same that the phone companies themselves would find a way to stop these annoying calls.

If I am not allowed to block robocalls, I will simply disconnect my landline.

I am writing to defend my right as a consumer of telecommunications via paid phone service. The intrusion into my personal space by unwanted/unsolicited robotic calls violates my personal peace. I have been bombarded with robocalls for years and I'm really sick of it. Signing up with Nomorobo blocking service has allowed me to take control. I watched Maine Senator Collins addressing a congressional committee last year about robocalls and scam calls. I was shocked to learn that approximately 9 billion such calls were reported in recent years. When Senator Collins contacted law enforcement agencies she was told they don't have the resources to follow up. It is hard for me to believe that our government doesn't have the ability right now to track and learn who these criminals are. Sad when the chief security officer of a large land line phone company informed me that she receives dozens of robocalls each week and is powerless because state and federal law enforcement will not cooperate with the phone company. We are quick to brag that America has some of the finest minds in the world yet a few petty criminals make a laughing stock of you and law enforcement. I urge you to stop these people.

I hate robocalls! They waste our time with useless advertisements and often they turn out to be scam artists trying to steal identity information. Please encourage the phone companies to allow nomorobo and similar technologies to block automated calling systems from telemarketers and scammers. I am 76 years old and live alone. It is so very disturbing to constantly be awakened or startled by a phone constantly ringing in a house that is otherwise quiet.

I feel like I am being invaded by something that I have let into my house and that ironically I have to pay for!

I receive upwards of a dozen robocalls a week on my home phone. I am also registered with the Federal Do Not Call database, but that does not seem to be enough to stop these annoying calls (most of which come when my wife and I are at the dinner table). I have given up reporting the callers to the DNC database simply because it does not seem to have done any good.

As a consumer who pays for my telephone service I should have the option of deciding how I want to use my service, and if I choose to block certain types of calls that is my business and not a decision that should be left to the whims of the phone company.

My phone number is already on the Do Not Call registry. I need more than that.

Susan Benjamin

Sunnyvale, CA

On average, I receive 5-14 annoying telemarketing calls a week. This is in addition to the fact that I have blocked the maximum (30) numbers from my AT&T VOIP service and an additional 30 using a blocking feature on my Panasonic home phone handsets. Since I have joined nomorobo.com, at least the phone only rings once before nomorobo blocks the call. I have entered at least 30 additional numbers into the nomorobo database for numbers that were not blocked since joining a month ago.

Because unwanted calls come from unidentifiable numbers, I am hesitant to ever answer a call from a number that is not either in my phone book or identifiable by a name or organization that I recognize. I have missed several important calls from doctors or businesses that I use, because they are lost among the volume of unwanted calls that arrive daily. My mobile phone has started to have the same problem.

The phone system needs more and better blocking mechanisms as this problem continues to grow out of control.

Jane Cohen

The vast majority of robo calls are violators of the do not call registry. If a reasonably effective way exists to stop these calls then consumers have every right to it, just as much as we have a right to put no soliciting on our front door and channel email to a spam filter. I as an American Consumer have every right to maintain communications with the world around me without being harassed and aggravated by companies that don't even consider me important enough to call directly. Even political calls are ridiculous when as a recording. With no way to remove yourself from their call list, or an overly complicated one if it does exist, it's equivalent to standing on my lawn with a loud speaker and harassment. NO MORE ROBO CALLS

The robocall epidemic has gotten out of control. On a normal day I get as many as 5 calls. You can't just block one number because the same organization changes the caller ID. There is no respectable reason not to allow or even encourage the ability for citizens to have a solution to this problem. It is irritating and in fact every time I get one of these calls I wonder why our elected/appointed representatives don't do something about it.

Please act to rid us of this modern day scourge.

Robocalls are intrusive in my life. They come at all hours and disrupt me in my own home all day every day. Just like unwanted visitors to my home, I should be able to block these calls from annoying me in my home. I found out about Nomorobo, which blocks these annoying calls, by accident. Since it's been in place it has given me peace and greatly improved the quality of my life as I am no longer being disturbed by robocalls. This option should be made available to all consumers through a Do Not Call List that really works (the current one does not) or through an option offered by the phone companies.

I am a geriatric social worker and I am greatly concerned that elderly people are being victimized by these sales calls that come into their homes. I've witnessed the problems that result from these calls many times with my clients and have spent countless hours trying to untangle the harm that these unsolicited calls bring. Blocking them is not only a quality of life issue, but an important way to protect our elderly citizens.

Blocking robocalls will make a positive difference in many people's lives, young and old.

Despite being listed on National Do Not Call Registry we get multiple solicitations every week. We often get a call and then nobody is on the line so I know it is a solicitor. If you talk to somebody it is hard to get the information you need to report them in violation of the do not call registry. you need to force the phone companies to provide robocall blocking solutions to consumers

Just make it stop!!!

Why should I have to accept being hounded by businesses or other predatory organizations. I have been so relieved to not have to constantly erase non-messages from unknown numbers and other unwanted callers.

I can't agree more on the topic of phone ownership and automated call systems. We NEED the FCC to intervene and insist that phone companies provide blocking services on their phone systems. This may very well end the nonsense consumes put up with related to unwanted calls.

Robocalls are an invasion of privacy. No one should be subjected to these calls unless they want them. I, like most people, do not pick up so most of the time these calls are a waste of time for the caller and a huge nuisance to the party receiving the call. I'd like to go back to some peace and quiet in my home. Please stop the continuation of these calls.

millis, ma

Please move forward to create laws that make it a crime, punishable by fines and imprisonment to send robocalls to my to my telephone.

I am registered on a the "No call registry" and I am still receiving calls from telemarketers.

FYI: I see a FCC Tax on my telephone statement which I am required to pay. Why are you not protecting my privacy?

The choice of what calls I receive has been taken away from me. On an average daily basis, I receive 1-5 calls either with recordings soliciting products that I have no interest in or "dead calls"--no one is on the other end of the line. I understand that some companies have to solicit their services or products to enlarge their customer base. Robo calls are my primary complaint!! Tell me how to block them!!

I have no control over the annoying calls that sometimes come several times a day. When I tried to block them, I was unable. Really. They can call over & over but I can't refuse them. May I call them in their homes whenever I want. They are leeches. Help me stop them please!!!

Please, please, please let us block these parasite from intruding on our lives. I'm caring for my 88 year old mother and don't appreciate these calls all day long. Why can't we just turn off (block) these unwanted intruders? Shouldn't we have this right?

Cupertino, CA

Love being able to block these calls. We are retired and received at least 1 a day. Often it's 3 and 4 a day. Often from the same robot caller with different spook numbers. We usually don't answer, but once in a while will pick up the phone and not say anything. They will often hang up, but are getting smarter. Some even leaving messages on our recorder. The "already paid for alert system has been calling us for a least 2 years with different cities and numbers identifying the caller.

I believe it is ridiculous that I receive 2-3 calls a day that have nobody on the other end. The calls automatically place you on hold for the next available representative.

Robot calling is one of the most frustrating and intrusive abuses of technology in the 21st century. At least two thirds of the calls we receive are robots even though we have been included on the "Do Not Call" list for years. Blocking of robot calls is an absolutely necessary technology in the face of current robot calling abuse of telecommunications technology. The only improvement in robocall blocking technology I would like to see is for these calls to be blocked before they even ring our phone.

We should have the freedom to have robocalls blocked and the phone companies should make it easier to do.

The robocalls interrupt sleep and sometime we get calls in succession.

They are very annoying.

As was solicited by this e-mail, robocalls are a nuisance, waste of time, and annoying. Many such calls by some organizations may have merit and very deserving of a response or donation. However I have made a policy to not donate or respond in any way to such calls.. Many such calls can be at a very inconvenient time in evenings ,and even on Sundays (Christ's Day).

Any influence and effort you can make toward making such calls illegal would certainly be appreciated.

Respectfully.

Robocalls are effectively pollution. Prior to using a Robocalls blocker, my household would receive 2-3 robocalls per day. I say Robocalls are pollution because there is no benefit from the content. Half of the calls don't even work properly when you attempt to indicate that you want to speak to someone about the product being offered. The frustration of not being able to eliminate this pollution would return if Robocall blocking services were eliminated. I use one now, and I can honestly say that our quality of life has improved since we put that in place. It has eliminated the stress and annoyance around handling another useless interruption with the phone ringing. The Do Not Call registry and related enforcement is insufficient to keep robocallers at bay, so robocall blocking services are totally appropriate.

It's my phone!! Let me block those annoying robocalls which I don't need or want!

I am in favor of robocall blocking products. I pay for my phones and should have the right to block unwanted calls. I believe the blocking of unwanted calls should extend to all robocalls including political ads. It is extremely annoying to have your phone ring constantly only to find a recording on the other end of the line.

Invariably, the calls come in the evening when we are settling down to relax. I have an unlisted phone and I am not sure how these companies have our name and ask personally to speak with us. I want these people blocked from calling needlessly daily!!

My mother is 93 years old and gets at least 2-5 calls a day. Many calls have been threatening she will be arrested, because she is behind in payments to the IRS. She is smart enough to know that the IRS doesn't call. These calls are worrisome, especially the kinds of messages they leave on the recorder. There are many calls that are centered around seniors getting free items if they sign up. They early morning and late in the evening. Sometimes it is the same number 4 or 5 times if she doesn't answer. These calls even go as far as using local numbers, so you think it is someone you might know. It is annoying that we cannot block these calls and have to deal with these scam callers, who are so rude. The ones from overseas talking about your computer are way out of line. At least if she answers, she can say she doesn't have one. Even though I am in my 60's I get the same kind of calls at my home that my mom does. I just don't answer, but if you don't they will call over five times that same day trying to get one to answer. I feel for the elder people who get sucked into these scams, and don't have someone looking out for them to help them understand about these calls. Please do something about these calls, so we have a choice to block them.

Robocalls are a scourge of our times. They are annoying. The call originators ignore the "do not call" list. "Just don't answer" is the most ridiculous, simply stupid "solution" possible. Prior to registration with Robocalls my wife and I have tried everything to stop the constant barrage, 8-10 per day, often during meals of unsolicited, unwanted calls.

We pushed keys to speak to representatives to stop. We were hung up upon and even cursed. Owning a phone should not subject us to such harassment.

We registered with the FCC's No Call Line. The calls continued. We took names of marketers and their phone numbers and called them in to no avail.

It was only when we joined robocalls, followed their directions to not pick up until the third ring did the annoyance end.

If the FCC should take any action to impede this wonderful service it would be a travesty, and it would restore the abuse of incessant, unwanted marketing calls that aggressively intrude on our privacy.

Every day we get phone calls that are thankfully blocked by Nomorobo call.

The Robo callers are persistent if nothing else. For example, we have received every day for the last two weeks at the same time in the morning a call from Dun & Bradstreet. Nomorobo blocks the call after one ring. I have as an experiment used caller ID and redial to try to call them back to tell them to stop calling. True to form, when I have called back their number there is no answer.

I have tried the same tactic with other Robocalls and their line is blocked from incoming calls or you end up in an endless loop of menus with no resolution.

Yes, we are on the no call list but it doesn't work with the Robocallers.

Please let the consumer have an option to stop these calls.

I do not want robo calls on my home or mobile phone. I consider these calls an invasion of privacy and disruption to my home and business life. There is no difference between Robocalls and email spam. Unwanted solicitation is just that, and I should have the right to keep my phone number or email address off these marketer's lists.

Citizens should be able to block robocalls, please see to it that this is done.

I am tired of the phone ringing and when I answer there is no one there, or the caller hangs up on the 4th ring. Sometimes the caller is able to get a dial tone to be recorded for a few seconds(very annoying). When the caller gets me on the line, the message goes on and on with no way to stop it. Once or twice I've had the recorded? message continued after hanging up and then trying to make an outgoing call. I don't even know where some of these people are getting my number. I push the buttons to be removed from the list and then I get called again and again I also will try to talk to a customer service rep., but it turns out they only want to sell something and when questioned or told to remove the number they hang up or I am called back several times,, Same spiel different number. What I really hate is if I miss the call and try to redial(to find out what the number is as I don't recognize the #) I am told that the number is not in service or does not exist. I do not think polls, or solicitations of any kind should be allowed, especially if you state that you do not want to be bothered ! I have my favorite charitable, social, and non-profit / not-for-profit groups which I donate time, products, and money to and do not want to be bothered by others and by some that even sound bogus.

I greatly appreciate the current robo call blocking that I have. However, there is nothing available to block robo calls to my cell phone. The result that I receive at least one call daily from a robo caller. This is disruptive and wastes the limited number of minutes that I subscribe. Please permit the implementation of robo call blockers for cell phones. This feature would be greatly appreciated.

I have been receiving unwanted robocalls from companies that claim to be able to lower interest on my credit card and from companies that claim to have medical alert systems for geriatric consumers. I suspect ALL these calls are scams. I've done the do not call list, "take me off your list", yelling ... and nothing works. The technology to prevent these calls is stone cold simple but it needs implementation at the carrier level. I get several of these calls everyday and it is disruptive to my productivity.

Telemarketers should not be able to bother me whenever they want. I should have the right to determine who is able to contact me and who I want to block calls from. Please make the phone companies provide a way to block robocalls. We are paying for our phones to talk to people we want to talk to, not computers. In addition, please actively pursue companies that call early mornings, late at night and Sundays to telemarket. Many of these are robocalls and I hang up. I want to be in control of my own telephone service, which I pay for. I wish to be able to block the nuisance calls and telemarketers who call my number over and over. Ring ring and no one is there. Come on FCC, how can anyone not find Robocalls a complete nuisance? For what purpose are these calls? I think it's a violation of the "do not call list" rules. Finally someone has done something about the ridiculous amount of robo calls we receive daily. All unwanted! The phone companies do not care. The Do Not Call Registry simply does not work. Robocalls are a huge nuisance. They waste my time answering them. Almost 90% of the calls I received each day are robocalls which leads to only frustration on my part of answering them. It's bad enough we get lots of cold calls from contractors, rug cleaners, and like that. But what's really annoying is being waked from a nap, or interrupted writing, or like that, to hear that this is our last chance to get lower credit card rates, or the "tech department of Windows software" finds we have a problem, or other totally taped calls. We get the same irritating robocalls, again and again. Aaaaaggh! And we can't even "report" them, without information re source.

Senior citizens being victimized by phone is a very serious problem. Victimization can mean an end to a senior citizen's independent living. This increases the cost of caring for our senior citizens and further burdens families. My own father who suffered a very mild stroke with minor brain impairment has been a financial victim of robo call phone scams. Keeping him safe from all kinds of phone solicitations and yet allowing him access to a phone for his own personal safety constantly worries our family.

I want to be able to easily block ALL robo calls and other numbers as well. I want to block calls whether they are charities, political, scam artists or just annoying. I want to do it easily. It's my phone and I pay for it. My phone should not be hijacked by others to try to manipulate or victimize me or my family members.

We are fed up with all the robocalls we get....it's annoying, time consuming and unnecessary.

Sunnyvale, Ca

I'm on the do not call list but these robocalls spoof caller ID and ignore the do not call list. I WANT THEM STOPPED!!!

I get an average of five to ten nuisance calls a day, it seems, from all kinds of places, probably scams for all I know. I am on the Do Not Call registry; that does no good as far as I can see.

I also use the features of my uverse phone service to supposedly block calls from unknown numbers, but that really does not seem to do anything either.

My phone company lets me put only 20 numbers on a list to be blocked, but even if I had the time to put each one in individually, that limit would not be nearly enough. And there are new ones every day. I work from home; how am I supposed to get any work done this way?

I know the technology must exist for phone companies to help customers block nuisance calls. I recommend that you mandate it be provided without cost to customers.

Thank you.

I'm tired of getting calls from people telling me I can lower my credit card interest rate, or lower my blood pressure, get a home mortgage or some other scam that companies can try to foist off on me with their unfettered ability to robocall my cell or land-line phone. It's bad enough that political candidates can call. I can make my own decisions on candidates and initiatives without annoying calls. Please apply "do not call" rules to robocallers. Robocalls are currently out of hand. Even when I'm not home, my current system allows me to check to see if my phone line received calls and where from - and it does, multiple times a day, even though I'm on the "Do Not Call List". It's crazy! And there are other people in the house. That phone rings and rings, all different hours of the night and day, disturbing everyone! If I were actually home when all of these calls were coming in, my sanity would be at stake. I can't even imagine what it would be like to have a baby or sick people in the house. You can't just shut your phone off, because you need to be available when the important calls come in, so you're forced to just sit and suffer. I was soooo happy when I signed up for a robocall-blocking service - the number of times the phone rang dropped exponentially. I was suddenly able to think straight, I wasn't jumping every time the phone rang. It literally improved my mental state. Until we can really make these services STOP calling people who don't want to be called, we NEED to have robocall-blocking services available - as easily available as possible!!

I should not be abused by robocalls that take my time and data from my phone plan.

Robocalling has gotten out of control. I'm now getting 10 to 12 a day, sometimes waking me in the morning. I'm frustrated and angry that the phone company does nothing to stop this. No wonder people are getting rid of their land lines. I would gladly do the same, but we are an older couple unaccustomed to cell phones and in need of a reliable source of communication.

I do not want any robocalls The phone doesn't stop ringing. I pay Comcast every month to prohibit robocalls, however they take no responsibility for any robocalls coming in: even though I pay them each month to block all robocalls. They actually said, why don't you call the FCC: horrible service. Can you please do something about robocalls; please can you. I want to be left in peace; I am battling a terminal disease and would like to live the remainder of my life in peace, without all the noise of robocalls. Thank you, Henry

Despite my being listed on the "no calls" list, I receive unwanted calls through robocalls and/or subterfuges such as:

"This call is for Mr John Doe," [rapid sales pitch]; I have had the same number for nearly twenty years.
Also:

"Name (not mine), it's essential that you call us back immediately--family emergency"; hoping to trade on my personal concern for Name.

"This call is intended for [arbitrary number]"; then a quick recitation of the sales pitch.

Fraudsters can get around practically any rule, but perhaps FCC's increasing the penalty for such fraudulent practices will help to discourage them. Also make it easier to report violations.

The spam Robo Calls are driving me and my wife nuts. For every genuine phone call we get at least 5 Robo Calls. This totally ruins any pleasure of having a phone.

Robert Wiskocil

The sheer volume and persistence of scam calls is getting to be more than an annoyance, it is getting to be an actual safety hazard. Calls come in at times when they interfere with driving and other critical activities.

In addition, the fact that the scammers continue to run their criminal operations is an indication that they are succeeding in extracting considerable amounts of money from innocent naive victims.

Please give us some means of protection. At very least, allow phone services to block calls from known fraudulent sources. Further, please pursue these perpetrators actively. Devise means to detect volume calling (e.g., with the famous "Rachel from credit-card-services" recording) and to redirect the calls harmlessly away from their intended targets. Better would be to trace them to their sources and send law enforcement to take the perpetrators into custody. (A missile strike would be welcome, although probably a bit too much to ask for... ;-})

At very least, require the phone companies to make services like NoMoRobo available and easy to use.

Thank you.

My home phone has become a useless device because most calls are unwelcome. I feel that unethical people have stolen my phone number from me.

Comcast has not helped me prevent these calls, but it certainly could if it wanted to.

I am 73 years old, and robocall blocking saved my sanity and possibly my life. The constant ringing, often every 15 minutes from 8:00am to 9:00 pm had me in tears or screaming. I try to go to sleep at 8:30 but the calls woke me up. My blood pressure was high because of the phone. I had to unplug the phone, but then I missed calls from family. Robocalls are one of the most annoying aspects of our modern telephone system. Not only is it an interruption to receive unsolicited telemarketing calls, it's a further insult to pick up the phone only to be put on hold while the robot connects to a human or have a per-recorded message played back.

In short, telemarketing and robocalls are evil. Consumers should be protected by policy and given access to every technological tool possible to stop these calls. Services such as nomorobo.com are a great example of how consumers can take back control of the telephones we pay for.

People do not spend a lot of money a month for a cell phone, to have these parasites use it for free.

Please put a stop to robocalls. They are bothersome and I have yet to receive one that actually peaks my interest.

Jeff Ozburn

This has been going on for far too long. If I want to buy something I will shop for it, and if I need any kind of service I will find it. I am beyond sick and tired of these calls and of automated annoying calls.

Stop them once and for all!!!

I want these robocalls stopped. Today's technology enables these unwanted unsolicited call to ignore the government do not call list. These calls are annoying and intrusive and an invasion my privacy.

the nomorobo application is a god send. It has eliminated many of these unwanted robocalls.

The FCC needs to mandate that the phone companies be required to keep or add these robocall blocking features.

Please let us block these unwanted and annoying robocalls. We should be able to block calls we do not wish to receive. It's our phone and these calls come with increasing frequency. We spend too many hours answering these "junk" calls and we have greatly appreciated having a means of intercepting these intrusions into our daily life.

We are being harassed by unwanted callers.

We have signed up with the National Do Not Call program and it is not working. The calls are still coming in and they are a nuisance. There is a definite need for a blocking service. Please do something to stop these unwanted calls.

I want the ability to block annoying calls that I have no interest in. These are unsolicited calls and they disrupt my business day and my private home life. They are invasive and annoying. I get dozens in a week and it is a violation. Please stop them!

Everyday I get 3-4 robo calls and they are very annoying. I'm on the no call list and yet these are not political or charities. Something needs to stop these calls from happening. I'm even annoyed at the so-called political and charity calls, they are never ending. Please do all you can to stop all these very inconvenient and annoying calls. Thanks.

I have been receiving robo calls from a group called Cardholder Services for at least three years. I have reported this to the Donotcall registry since 2012. Nomorobo is now blocking the numbers which I give them from that group. However, they have so many callers from so many areas calling, that it is impossible to block them all. They even chose one number which was one digit off from my own home phone number. The message always begins, "Hello, this is Rachel!" I ask that the FCC do something to end this harassment. There MUST be a solution and I ask that you do something to find it.

Joan Barrett
Whitesboro, NY

I have just submitted one request to block robo calls from Cardholder Services, but I was basing it upon my home phone number. I should have explained that the same group calls me on my cell phone. The problem is so serious with my cell phone that I don't even answer it. I have told my family to call me at least three times in a row because I won't answer on the first and sometimes second rings. Again, this is harassment. It is not acceptable. Please do something to end it.

Joan Barrett

I get 2-3 calls per day, even though I'm on the Federal and Florida do not call lists. If I tell them not to call, they keep calling anyway. You have the power to do something. Please do it!

Linda Barris

Its my phone, and the do not call list option has failed.

It's coming down to having a "permitted call list"

as the only option to bring the chaos to an end.

Don't EVEN let telemarketers onto cell phones without for any reason. Those are MY minutes and my $$$ and not theirs and my PRIVACY. Letting telemarketers and politicians and charity's, "non-profits" etc camp on peoples cell phones is a nice "Revenue" boost for the industry and a dangerous annoyance for the customer the customer -- SELF EVIDENT!

I pay our provider, Comcast, for privacy protection for the phone, computer, and internet. I AM signed up on the Federal Do No Call List.

ROBOCALLS ARE STILL COMING IN.

NOMOROBO HAS FOUND A SOLUTION TO THIS PROBLEM.

I STRONGLY SUGGEST YOU SUPPORT NOMOROBO OR COME UP WITH A BETTER IDEA.

Thank you in advance.

More than half of my land line calls are robocalls. I had to buy a phone that lets me block up to 250 numbers. All 250 numbers will be "used up" shortly. The Do Not Call list is apparently nearly useless. I am considering dropping my land line and just using my cell phone. Robo call blocking should be standard equipment (i.e., no excessive optional charges).

Piper Keairnes
Suwanee, GA

In September 2014 the National Association of Attorneys General requested the FCC to make robocall blocking solutions "more easily accessible to consumers." I support this request. Like any marketing call, robocalls are unwanted, intrusive, and annoying. Even more annoying lately has been the advent of calls that have a live person at the start of the call who then immediately switches the call over to a recording. Please take all appropriate actions to make robocall blockers more accessible and hold organizations accountable for violating the Do-Not-Call list.

Robocalls are an drag on efficiency and productiveness for America as whole. Like spam it needs to prevented and barriers need to be placed to prevent the usefulness of the landline telephone and of voice calls on a cell phone to be maintained. If it is not, people will turn to skype and FaceTime and other alternatives that will emerge. Please protect the American consumer and keep the telephone system as important to future generations as it was to past generations. In addition the phone system still provides extremely useful services such as 911 calling that are not available on the alternatives.

Stop the legalized harassment. Present law doesn't work. Without legislative protection, consumers are helpless in dealing with a monopoly that controls an essential utility...your phone. Require carriers to offer call blocking. Require disclosure to consumers of who pays for and owns the originator of a robocall or solicitation. Create civil and criminal penalties for offenders.

I find that these Robocalls are very annoying. They often come at a very inconvenience time too. I would like to have them blocked from my telephones.

I have a right to decide who I want to let on my property. Why don't I have a right to decide who I want to let on my phone? I don't want robocalls. Not from politicians. Not from charities. Not from anyone. My phone is for people I know to contact me, not for political campaigners with sequence dialers to harass me with things I don't want. Bailing out of the bathroom to answer what I expect to be an important phone call, only to find out that it's just more phone spam, has happened way, way, WAY too many times. (for that matter, once is too many times, but when I lived in New Hampshire, it was happening weekly, because my phone was ringing constantly before the elections, ALWAYS with political campaigns). Just because someone has the right to speak does not give me the obligation to listen! Citizens deserve to be able to choose.

Jean McGuire

I love Nomorobo. It has saved many a dinner hour at our house. The telecoms should be making it easier for such technologies.

The Do Not Call does not work because there is no quick means of identifying a caller and getting a fine. It is all very well saying we can sue but in practice we can't -- and you are too slow and can't get at the little buggers like rug cleaners who are local.

Paul F. Dubois

Please allow phone companies to block automated phone calls from telephone solicitors and scammers.
Require phone companies to develop secure called so that numbers cannot be spoofed by scammers.

PA

Not only should the FCC allow the telephone carriers to block unwanted telemarketing calls (all of which violate the DNC list) but the FCC should demand that the carriers improve the technology to prevent telephone number spoofing and callerID spoofing. 98 % of calls to my home number are illegal telephone calls because my number is on the DNC. Many of these calls change numbers and call again if they get blocked by NOMOROBO which I also subscribe. I would prefer not to even get the single ring the NOMOROBO requires to block a call.

The carriers know who is making all these telemarketing calls and should be allowed to block at the source these illegal telephone calls.

It has become a real nuisance. Please help stop these robocalls. I would cancel the phone completely except for the fact my home alarm system is tied in. We are constantly pestered with robo calls despite being on the no call list. We get up to 10 calls per day that are computer generated showing an 800 number or caller ID blocked. Luckily we have NoMoRobo service and only have to endure one ring and the call is blocked. These calls start as early as 6:00 am and go on until 9:00 at night. Life would be miserable if we had to listen to 4 rings from each call before it goes to our answering machine and then the call is terminated by the caller because a live voice is not on the line.

Unsolicited and unwelcomed phone calls are maddening. We get these calls at virtually all hours (6:30AM-9PM), seven days a week. We have, and pay for, an unlisted phone number hoping for privacy, to no avail. Government regulated communications should not be allowed to be used as an arm of advertisers and solicitors, including financial institutions and political campaigns. We urge the FCC to put the right citizen privacy over commercial interests.

I am happy to take this opportunity I have been given to say that I think that robocall blocking products should be offered to every phone customer. My husband and I have been increasingly hounded by this calls over the recent years. It doesn't matter if you ask to be taken off a calling list most times; so many of them are scam calls. The Do-Not-Call Registry seems to be relatively ineffective. If legitimate people want to make me an offer, let them send it in the mail. I am tired of having to answer the phone 5 times a day (that is no exaggeration).

I pay by the minute for my phone to receive legitimate and important calls. Robo Calls, dead silence calls, recorded voices & fax calls are all costing me money. I want/need these practices to stop. The do not call list & complaints to FCC do not produce results. Each time an incoming number is blocked, that number changes to another. Its a never ending cycle of telephone harassment & sales people. Robocalls & the like should be blocked, stopped & fined. Thank you for your time & consideration. -M

As a small business owner, I use my phone for business and personal calls. To have robocalls and telemarketers regularly calling me, and often repeated calls from the same company but different persons calling, is very disruptive. I can't block certain area codes because my business is international. I have a service that black lists after I've received the call, but that only helps for the next call.

I would appreciate the opportunity to carry on my business without the disruptions from unsolicited sells calls.

I was staying at home during work hours for a month recently, and the number of 'robo' calls is absolutely unacceptable. There is no excuse for this type of so-called 'marketing', especially since the primary victims are elderly people that are lonely. First of all, the "Do not call" list hasn't worked.

Nomorobo is the only option that actually gets the job done. Please allow them to continue. Not only is it simple to use, it is free. I ask you to consider the American public, when you decide. The scammers have been unbearable for far too long. Stop them with Nomorobo. Thank you.

I was once a daily occurrence getting telemarketing call after another, scam after scam. I would get calls as early at 6am and as late as 10pm. Reporting these criminals to the donotcall.gov website dose nothing to help stop these low life's from calling my house, waking my children at all hours.

Then I found Nomorobo.com and it has some how eliminated almost all the junk phone calls my house receives. Only once in a while do I get a call, but after one ring the caller who is harassing my family is flushed away like the piece of doodie they are.

I think it is ludicrous that the FCC is even entertaining taking away my right to privacy, because of some law the phone companies are claiming is being broken.

Daniel Schieferstein

It should be mandatory for phone companies to block all incoming robocalls on residential phones.

Phone companies should allow their customers to easily block an unwanted call.

I'm fed up with robocalls and try to delete any I detect.

They seem to come in two sizes: Those that persist until answered so they can make their pitch and others which ring four or five times and then hang up.

I got caught in a scam which cost me $3000 a couple of years ago and now refuse to transact any financial business at all over the telephone -- I want to see a piece of paper and exercise my right to check what's contained therein.

I still have at least two people who call me but never respond if I pick up the phone. These are, I suppose, nuisance calls with no commerce involved. If these are not defined as robocalls, then I'd also like to have a way of getting rid of them too.

I am so fed up with unwanted calls. Since I have been using Nomorobo calls, they have been cut down considerably, but few still manage to get through. When they show up as Unavailable or Anonymous you have no number to report. The calls are annoying and so many of them that I check out on the internet are listed as scams! By using Nomorobo calls I now get two or three calls a week compared to 30 or more. It is a shame that a person can be pestered by advertisers and scams. I personally think that politicians and charities are exempt. I don't want to be bothered by them either! I would bet that they are not pestered by unwanted calls! Please make sure that block calls are allowable and available to everyone who want to use them!

Even though I have been signed up on the Do Not Call list from its inception, it appears that it offers little protection from robocalls.

I am a senior citizen. Until my husband used NOMOROBO to block robo calls, our phone rang dozens of time each day. If and when one of us would answer, it would be either a robo call or no one there. Neither of us can move quickly to answer the phone or to even look at the caller ID to see if the call is important. It was annoying and frustrating to have to stop and run to the phone numerous times per day. As frustrated as we were, we would never consider buying or having anything to do with the companies, etc. making the robo calls. With NOMOROBO, the calls have dwindled to only several a day, and we can live with that. My husband and I choose businesses and services when needed from recommendations of friends and people we respect, and from the Better Business Bureau. Robo calls are a waste of time coming to our phone, because we would never use such a company. Why should we have to put up with our day being interrupted constantly by robo calls that are unwanted? It is our phone, our home, and our lives, and we have the right to our privacy.

Robocall is wonderful! We would support anything that would let us receive fewer calls from companies that use the telephone to try to sell us things we are not interested in and don't want. Some of these calls are verging on fraud, and I feel that the companies that place them are using the phone to scam older citizens. I refer especially to the guy who calls and says we have to pick up a "free" home security item that we never ordered in the first place. He than asks for information about us--free my eye. Any way you can stop these people would be a real service.

Thank you.

Please DO NOT End robocall blocking. I used to get 10-15 calls daily through my phone with Timer Warner. After, I only receive 2-3 per week. The service is great, and provide me peace of mind. Blocking robocalls, the vast majority of which nowadays are ILLEGAL, is simply common sense. Allowing consumers the option to block them at will is the second best option behind simply implementing effective rules that BAN THEM ENTIRELY.

Furthermore, the vast majority of these illegal robocalls, spammers, and fraudsters calls could easily be eliminated if the FCC would take action to mandate accurate, mandatory caller ID. No faking numbers, no blocking it, etc. If you want to place a call to a US telephone number it should be legally required that the number you are calling from is the number displayed. Failure to do so should result in CRIPPLING fines - $10,000 per call dialed should suffice. This, combined with the ability to block numbers and robocalls, would eliminate 99.9% of the spam and fraudsters out there.

Robocalls are obnoxious

California

These robotcalls I keep getting has completely got out of hand.at times when I hang up after a robot call,I get another then another.I'm on the no call list but that's a lot of bull.My father is a very ill man with cancer and the constant ringing of the phone is driving him up the wall.I know I have the right to block these calls but why is the FCC permitting this to happen? why is the FCC stopping robocall blocking products from being used?

Is this the United States of America where we have the freedom to block calls? this is oh so wrong when we are forced to receive robocalls and deal with it.I start getting these calls from 5 am and it goes on all day,daily.

your help is deeply appreciated

thank you

Force the phone companies to provide robocall blocking solutions to consumers. It is ridiculous that homeowners cannot enjoy the peace of their own home without annoying, repetitive callers! Callers that fill up your answering machine with gimmicks and deals. Callers that keep changing their phone number to get through. Callers that have 13 numbers in their descriptions so that you are unable to block them. All so that the phone company can profit. I already pay the phone company!

I am irritated that the system by which people contact me can be continually and systematically faked. People calling during dinner or late night attempting, displaying inaccurate numbers and who refuse to provide a direct contact for tracking need to be stopped. Insofar as I ever get an actual number, I can report it to you but I never hear back from you, while the company calling me shifts their number on their robodialers and continue to call without stop. I want a good solution for verifying callers before they ring through and stopping them if they are not being honest about the numbers they are using. Please support solutions like the robocall blocking products. This should be something the FCC is providing, or resolving on your own, but short of that, at least support other companies willing to do the work you choose to avoid.

I have a home-based business and daytime robocalls are the bane of my existence. A constant source of work interruption and all-around nuisance.

Since I started using a robocall blocking service, there has been some relief. While not a panacea, having at least a partial solution has been a real relief.

Please make certain these products continue to be available to the public.

The sheer volume of unwanted robocalls has forced us to STOP ANSWERING the phone, and screen all calls.

Please, please, let consumers choose to stop these calls.

I use the "Nomorrobo" service.

It has been a significant saver of my time for my home based business.

Instead of having 8 or more junk phone calls a day that I was answering - I now have time to answer real business related calls, this has been a significant saver of my time and allowed me to generate more business.

I use the Verizon FIOS phone service which has the ability to do a second number ring.

Unfortunately the cable service in my area (Comcast) does NOT have this feature.

Please require anyone offering phone service to also have the "second number ring" so one can make usage of "Nomorobo".

Outrageous that having a landline exposes me to non-stop irritation from people who call after I've worked all night and trying to rest for my next shift. My father lives with me, has terminal cancer and is awakened by phones ringing in other rooms. If I wanted to buy something I would initiate the sale on my own, instead of dealing with inconsiderate hucksters and their uninvited calls.

Dear FCC: I paid to buy my phone, I paid to have services for my phone and I've registered on the Do Not Call list. Robocalls are a drain on productivity and a constant irritant to the public. Several times a week, while spending time with my family, we get interrupted by a computer calling to try to sell me something.

I have never bought anything from ANY of these calls, not once. If anything, they make me less likely to purchase from these companies because they have gone out of their way to annoy me.

I would like a way to stop these calls from interrupting my family dinners.

I am so very tired of paying to receive unwanted calls on my cell phone. Unlike many people I still have a land line and resent very much when I get unsolicited calls on my cell phone. I have been able to block most of them on my land line and would really love to be able to do the same on my cell phone.

I absolutely cannot understand how the FCC and Congress is refusing to deal with the problem of telemarketers and robocalls. I can only assume the telemarketers have paid lobbyists influencing them.

This whole issue makes me quite angry. Clearly it is the home phone owner who is being harassed and inconvenienced and paying the price so Congress & the FTC apparently don't care. THIS IS A BIG ISSUE AND SERIOUS PROBLEM TO THE CONSUMER!

Please allow or direct the phone companies to stop the robo calls. I am sick of Rachel calling us several times a day in an attempt to scam us. I would like to see them blocked, and I would be willing to "opt-in" to get on a block list that really works. Robocalls are a huge and valueless interruption, a real pain in the butt in our household. They waste our time and focus with interruptions that have negative value to us.

Please do whatever it takes to block Robocalls and telemarketer. They have to ability to spoof number to bypass blocklists. I sometimes get up to 5 call a day from Credit card interest lower scam, Security companies and "Help I've fallen and can get up' services.

My system allow me to see all incoming number. My research of these spam call reveal them spoofing number attached to unused phone numbers, both land lines and cells. How they do it I do not know.

I have signed up for all the no call lists, both state and federal, but I still get robo calls on my land line. The no call system does not work and is ignored by overseas robo callers and scammers. Robocalls target phones with no regard to whether or not the phone user has need, ability or even authorization to utilize what they are selling. We are getting so many robocalls at this time, even before any political campaigning has started. It is only going to get worse. There needs to be a way to block these calls. They are annoying and time wasting. Please do your part in urging these phone companies to get their heads out of the sand and take care of the problem. We thought Do Not Call Lists would take care of this problem. It has not been shown to be the case.

The "do not call" system may be somewhat effective, but is sure not enough! I still get calls EVERY DAY, often more than one. I did find about "ROBOCALL" and that has helped very much. Please, please, please do what you can to allow the blocking of robocalls. Why should my life be interrupted at awkward times because someone wants to sell me something...or vote for their party? As it is, I don't answer the phone if I don't know or want to speak to the caller. But a ringing phone disturbs sleep or has me running to the phone unnecessarily. The cost of owning a Smartphone is enormous compared to a traditional landline. However to keep up-to-date with developments here and abroad, they are a necessary evil. Unlike landlines we are charged by the data and/or minutes used. I don't want any of that used on Robocalls. If I want a service, I can approach the vendor myself.

I receive robot calls on a regular basis. I have stayed on the line to speak with a live person to let them know I do not want there product/service. I have requested they remove me from their calling list. I still received calls. I just received another call and spoke with a gentleman and let him know, if I receive any more calls I would report the company to the,FCC. He laughed at me and told me to 'Go for it'. I hung up. Please take the time to help the average "Joe". You need to insist that Telecom service providers provide a blocking service on ALL phone calls, regardless of the technologies. Why should the FCC insist? These companies do not appear to want to take the time and effort to help their customers. These scams cost US consumers millions of dollars annually. It can be easily stopped. Canada has proven that it can be stopped. Why should the US always lag behind the rest of the world??!!

And in addition, recently within the last 6 months have been recieving numerous telephone robo scams that stating they are from IRS and will sue you for back taxes due etc., Call the number listed to settle this claim. etc The calls were generated from area codes listed to Puerto Rico, NY, MD, NJ. I use a voip service where I can block numbers. So far I have over 70 numbers blocked from verified spammers. In order to keep up with the robot calls, I need to add at least 6 numbers per week. There just isn't enough time to program the blocking. When I contacted the do not call registry a few years back, they basically laughed and said that they were illegal calls from non complying firms and they could not do anything. Then I contacted the FCC and they were worse and they said I had to file a complaint with my local police department as they were helpless and they were outright rude. (I hope I can find a record of their email). As if the police could track down a number in light of limited resources. The government proved it's ineptness. Now maybe they can redeem themselves if this type of legislation is enacted. I can share my 70+ numbers, but I can't keep up even though I have the technology as still have to enter the numbers to be blocked. NeXT week I was planning to program a Voice response system (IVR) to intercept all calls and ask humans to press or say 1 to get connected. If the FCC wants to look me up, I am locateable and will answer questions about my extremely negative interacroon with them years before. Please listen, the harm you are creating is immense! I even block calls that do not originate in North America but pretend to as the FCC said that was the problem. It is not.

These calls are confusing, annoying and harassing. It is sometimes difficult for me to get up and answer the phone, and frustrating beyond words to limp my way across the room just to pick it up and hear nothing, a telemarketer, or just weird background noise.

I can't imagine how the elderly manage - often the caller is so difficult to understand it's hard to tell whether or not the call is legitimate. I now assume that if I can't make out what the caller is saying it must be a scam.

No one needs this harassment, it is not a valid way of making a living.

Thank you.

I have a specific suggestion that would help telecoms improve their service.

Zact (now absorbed into Virgin Mobile Custom) has developed a program that blocks calls from anyone not in the customer's contacts list.

That solution is so simple that I am amazed it has not spread like wildfire.

Requiring this would go much further than prohibitions against scammers that cannot be enforced consistently.

Its annoying to clear out 47 robocalls a day so sometimes I wait a few days. They hang up if I answer, they hang up if I ask to be removed, they interrupt breakfast and dinner, they wake me up on Sunday mornings when I sure would like to sleep in. They have no point. I believe in free speech but not when someone hijacks my phone number and relentlessly calls it skirting the time frame that is allowed. I have been woken up to them, had my time interrupted too many times to count, and when a connection occurs have asked politely to have my number removed. Robo calls nothing more than a major nuisance for any and all recipients subjected to them. They interrupt your life because you are forced to stop what you are doing and answer the phone to be sure you aren't missing an important call. Why do you allow a Do Not Call List if you make exceptions for robocalls? Not only are they annoying, but majority of them are scams. No matter how many times you tell them not to call back they just keep calling. Why don't you publish your number so we can call you every time we receive one of these calls? We receive at least a dozen of these calls a day. It only gets worse during election season. My husband and I both have aging parents that are not local, so when the phone rings we pay attention. 99% of the time they are robocalls. What profit are you making by allowing them to continue? You are just alienating what few customers you have remaining. Please make them stop.

My phone rings with robo calls at all hours and repeatedly. I should be able to block these uninvited and extremely annoying calls. Both my home number and cell phone number are on the "Do Not Call List" and it still allows these calls.

Wanni Spence

All day long I get phone calls from people I don't know. Now if I am on the phone and these calls come in it disconnects me from the person I am talking to. I pay for my phone so I have the right to use it the way I choose. No has the right to come into my home uninvited and invaded my quiet solitude!!!!

Chester, va.

Please stop the robocalls!!! We get so many, every day, & also in the middle of the night.

Debbie Brown
Nooksack, Wa.

We rely on our land line phone for important calls. Therefore we cannot ignore it when our phone rings. We are an elderly couple for which getting up to answer the phone can be a significant chore. The majority of our calls now are robocalls usually occurring at inconvenient times such as meal time or nap time. This is an unacceptable use of the phone service. Please take legal steps to halt this type of activity.

I should be allowed to block ANY unwanted calls on my phone including robocalls! YOU need to listen to the public and allow us to do so.

It would be AWESOME if robo calls were blocked from home phones ,cell phones too. Very annoying to keep getting the same call night after night. They come at dinner time breakfast and even bed time. Please help stop the calls. By the way being on the no call list isn't a big help they still call.

JoAnne Gardella

I resent the fact that I am not permitted the chance to decide if I want to get calls from robocallers. This is MY CHOICE, no one else's.

Your do not call list is not extensive/comprehensive enough as it now stands. Phone carriers need to be forced to provide us with solutions to this problem, as well as whether we want to receive calls regarding donations, surveys, elections, etc.

I pay my phone bill, I DEMAND to be allowed to decide who I want to hear from. Not you. Not anyone else.

Thank you.

My husband and I are senior citizens. We are so tired of daily multiple phone calls via robo calls and live telemarketers. We receive anywhere from 3 to 5 calls weekdays and occasionally on Saturday and Sunday. It is very disruptive to our health and well being (my husband has Parkinson's Disease and I have a heart condition). We keep a landline phone for those occasions when we need to call 911. PLEASE do something to help end robo call practice. We put our home number on the Do Not Call List but it made no difference whatsoever. Thank you.

Mr & Mrs Keith Samson
Brentwood, CA

Even though we are on the "Do Not Call" list, for the past two years we have been receiving uninterrupted telemarketer and robocalls. We've opted out of everything we can, have filled up the "block" feature on our land-line, and have even gotten nomorerobo, which has helped a lot, but still has not stopped the flow of 25-30 calls PER DAY, including 11 pm at night when my daughter's asleep and 2 or 3 am. This is nuts!!! I could unplug our phone, but we are paying for it and we might get important calls. Moreover, this is a blatant invasion of my privacy. I called Verizon, who is our telecom company, and they transferred me to someone in Texas who told me that nothing can be done, even if you're on the Do Not Call list, since Congress has authorized this. Moreover, he told me, that they have already or soon will authorize such intrusions into our private life for cellphones! I've already gotten a half dozen or so such calls on my cellphone, but it pales in comparison with our land-line. I have filed complaints with the Do Not Call Registry and nothing happens. This is nuts and I DEMAND some sort of action.

Robert Mullins

I think each of us needs to aspire to be/do the best we can to have a humane and civilized society. I receive many robocalls daily. These calls are intrusive and an invasion of my privacy.

Time is currency, too, and I resent the time these calls STEAL from me interrupting me from my rest and responsibilities. Why are these calls not stopped? Please do what you can to stop them. They are a form of harassment unacceptable in CIVILIZED society.

I would be very grateful if you would fulfill this objective which I regard as your RESPONSIBILITY.

Thank you.

Please do your utmost to discourage telephone marketing. Greater than 90% of my calls are telemarketing which is causing me to join the ranks of those without a home line. I would be extremely displeased to receive telemarketing on my cell phone.

Why is this even up for discussion unless you truly are not representing the people of this United States. I pay the bills for my phone service and it should be my choice who I want calling me, not the FCC. So listen up you all in the FCC.....The people don't want unsolicited phone calls....PERIOD

I did a search using Google for the following:

"porn" here are the results"

"About 142,000,000 results (0.26 seconds)"

trust me, I am not a "porn" fan.....

But I want to point out the significance of the results of .26 seconds.....

Why can't AT&T search phone numbers for out of service numbers and block calls to my valid phone numbers from phone numbers that are not in service? I am willing to waste up to one second or 3, 4, 5 or more seconds to stop calls to my phone.

I think that it's the phone company's responsibility to verify and legitimize the validity of any incoming calls to my phone.

P.S.: I have a sign on my front door that says " Please.... no solicitors of any kind," (it works 99% of the time, only politician's, religious organizations, and charities ignore the privacy please sign ---- I think that all solicitors of any kind should be liable for penalties)...... I have the same sign on my phone, and that does not work at all..... WHY????? I should be able to apply the same notice to my incoming phone calls "Please.... no solicitors of any kind,"

Thanks for listening,

We beg of you to allow robo-call blocking. It is impossible to block them by number, as they just mask their ID - their calls have even shown up as coming from our own phone on the Caller ID.

The intrusion, and worse, the verbal abuse when someone comes on the line to harass us because they know we cannot trace them it no longer tolerable.

The annoying robocalls should be stopped! My number has been on the do not call list since the program was implemented years ago. Every time I get these calls, which happens at least once a week, I go online and file a complaint. However, this is apparently not working as it should be so why not just block it in the first place? Saves everyone time and money!

We have a right to freedom from invasive robocalls in our homes. Right now, nothing prevents them from waking us, disturbing our families, worrying us with ringing at strange hours and pulling us from our duties and passtimes. They are uninvited and unwelcome intruders inside our private spaces--and they should NOT have that right.

We expect you to do everything possible to protect Americans from robocalls! Be on the vanguard of this, and don't be embarrassed later that you failed to see the justice of it.

Please PLEASE PLEASE do something to STOP these incessant robo phone calls we are getting all day long every day on our land-line based phones. Some are just advertisements, but the majority are obvious criminal scam attempts to steal money. I have called my phone company, and the local District Attorney's office, and no one will do anything about it, even knowing these are organized crime efforts to steal money. Please force technology that will stop any automated non-human call from going thru.

We get several robo calls every day, most of the time when we are eating dinner. It is very annoying to get up to answer your phone and nobody is there, especially since we have signed up to opt out of telemarketing and these companies are ignoring this because some people want less government and less taxes, the government doesn't have the time to enforce these rules.

What's even worse, trying to sign up for nomorobo, I put in my telephone number and a message says that it's not available with my phone carrier, which is AT&T for a land line and Virgin Mobile for my cell phone.

It is high time that the FCC take action and bring an end to these robocalls. The intrusion into my family's life of robocalls has gotten to the breaking point! We try to instill in our kids the importance of sitting down to dinner, every night, together. Something that is extremely difficult to do in today's society. We've succeeded in being there together at the table each night, only to be interrupted most nights by a robocall right in the middle of dinner. It's obnoxious. And there has never been, and I guarantee you never will be, anything that a robocalling marketer will be selling that we will be buying. So PLEASE finally put an end to these calls. It's way overdue.

Robocalls outnumber to our home phone outnumber wanted calls. Our privacy is invaded to the extent that we let all calls go to answerphone rather than answer. Please help the American Public by requiring phone companies to permit 3rd party call blocking technology for all type of phone calls, analog or digital; land line or cellular. The do not call system is a joke and the scammers know it.

Even though my numbers are on the Do Not Call List I still get robocalls. I currently can only block them by adding their number to my telephone handset. The problem is I have to wait for them to call to capture the number to block. When is this going to stop? When will I get some peace?

We receive approx. 4 nuisance calls per day at the most inconvenient times and some of them are alarming. It feels almost as if they are trying to scam us. We are a couple in our 70's and it seems like many of these calls are aimed at frightening senior citizens with medical alerts, IRS threats and credit card calls regarding lowering interest rates. I find the increasing number of robocalls outrageous. We get several every day, even though we are on the do-not-call lists. Junk mail can be readily disposed of when it appears in the mail box. Robocalls come at all times in the day and do not stop, even when I answer and request that they stop. I am very concerned about the proliferation of robo-calls and the fact that the U.S. Government seems unwilling to take any action to stop them. Despite the fact that my home phone and cell phone have been listed on the do-not-call registry, robo-calls are a daily occurrence.

These calls are a significant nuisance and annoyance. Basically it is a form of harassment.

If a private individual were conducting this type of harassment, I could get a restraining order to stop them. With robo-callers, there is no recourse.

Some years ago, as the number of random robo-calls began to increase I decided to try to stop them. My thought was that these callers somehow did not know my numbers were on the do-not-call registry. My approach at that time was to wait until I got a real person and then politely inform them that they had reached a number listed on the do-not-call registry. Unfortunately, the calls, from the same callers, continued.

When I realized that just informing these people that the number was on the do-not-call registry was doing no good, I decided that I should try contacting the FCC. I found the FCC website where I dutifully filled in the information about the calls, hoping that this would help. I was surprised (shocked?) when I got to the end of my FCC entry and found that the FCC was just gathering information. The FCC was not going to do anything with the data except keep note of it. I was incredulous! I could not see the point of entering this information for each future call, as I knew nothing would come of it. I have to believe that no one takes the time to make more than an initial complaint, if they realize that no action will be taken. How valid is the data if people are discouraged from reporting more than once?

I question why enforcement should be in any way difficult. Despite the fact that robo-callers typically spoof their caller IDs, there certainly are other ways of finding the source of robo-calls! Also, I am pretty certain that 99.9% of them are scams to get people's credit card and other information. So finding a solution would have an additional benefit of shutting down scammers.

At this point there is a technology available which I can use as a private citizen. It is Nomorobo. Basically, as I understand it, Nomorobo screens calls and, for suspicious calls, requires a human type input from the robo-caller. This human input would greatly increase the cost associated with robo-calls and basically stop them.

Unfortunately, I have checked with my telephone providers and found that they do not support Nomorobo. If they did, I would sign-up today.

Nomorobo seems like an easy fix which can be implemented immediately. I cannot see why the FCC would not mandate carriers to coordinate implementation with Nomorobo.

Best regards from a very frustrated consumer.

J. Christopher Hall
Wilbraham, MA

I've been using the No 'mo Robo calls for about 3 months, and it has been a godsend.

Despite registering on every do not call list I could subscribe to, we are continually being called by companies that we a) have no involvement with and b) do not want to be interrupted by.

These companies all have chosen to ignore your regulations (with the most egregious offender being 'Card Services'). Should they now be enabled to bypass the only available technique I have to maintain peace and privacy ? Hell No.

I strongly urge the Commission to stop this blatant attempt to circumvent the Commission's intent. The public should not be open to attack by piratical firms.

I pay for my phone lines and my wireless minutes - yet almost every day, someone has called my house, taken up my line time & my voice mail with calls regarding dubious practices, products I did not inquire about or services I am not interested in.

These companies are shams - only schools, govt offices and such should be using robo type calls - legitimate information that you should be able to sign up for or have go through automatically.

But frankly, I'm tired of "Jim" with the prize winning money asking me to call him daily, or "Luthor" who needs me to call him immediately about my car loan (I don't have one), etc., etc., etc.

It is sad that such harassment is legally allowed. It needs to stop immediately. And thus far, I've never found a way to block calls that I didn't have to pay additional for. Those companies should be paying ME to waste the minutes on my cell & for abusing the equipment I paid for.

Stop the annoyances please! They try to conceal their calling be useing your area code, we don't answer the phone if we don't know who it is! Thank goodness the TV also shows who is calling. I pay for phone use not Robocalls!!!

Please change the current laws to allow phone companies to block robocalls. They are an unwanted nuisance.

Linda Assali
Nashville, TN

Please allow all technology to block robocalls! I am all the do-not-call lists and still the calls come in, at all times of the day interrupting me while I try to live my life. I have opted out of this calls on the government lists and each of their own individual lists. I get them on my landline phone and my cell phone. I block them on my cellphone but can't block them on my landline phone.

I would like to be left alone by these bottom feeders. They are all crooks anyway. Why should they be left alone when their intentions are bad.

Please give me power to make them stop.

Earl E. Summerford
Harker Heights, TX

I hate robocallers! I pay my cell phone and land line bills, so I should get to decide who calls me and for what reason. I do not feel that it is fair that robocallers can market to me on my dime and I have no means to stop them.

Please allow us a choice to say no to robocallers.

I think consumers should have the right to screen/control incoming calls however and with whatever means available. It's MY phone service, NOT theirs!!! With each passing day the National No Call List is becoming nothing more than a joke of workarounds & exceptions.

Consumers should be allowed to "firewall" their home phone service the same as they do for their home computer system. The issues are no different.

Richard Baasch

I would love to have the ability to stop all forms of robocalls, especially those from unsolicited political parties.

Raymond Thomas

Before Nomorobo, I came home to at least 50 unwanted solicitations on my message service. Please allow this software to exist!

New York, NY

Robo calls and other unsolicited phone calls are way out of hand. The "Do-not-call" list is a joke. So far I find NoMoRoBo to be the most effective means off blacking these calls, It gets 80 to 90% of them.

This phone insanity is now making its way to me cell phone. I am getting 2 or 3 nuisance calls per day. I can only expect it to get worse.

Any hindrance in my use of call blocking technology like NoMoRoBo is an affront on my freedom. I pay for my landline and cell phones and as such they are my personal property.

I should be able to opt-in to other features including the ability to block political and charity calls.

Hackettstown, NJ

Every American should have the right to determine their own level of peace and tranquility in their own home. I am sick and tired of all the robocalls that are received not only on my home phone, but also on my cell phone. The No-More-Robo is the only solution that we have today to help combat this runaway problem. It should be available to ALL personal home and cell phones.

Bruce W. Stauf

It's my phone and I should be allowed to block all unwanted calls to my phone.

We are getting 4 to 5 robocalls per day. It is annoying and interrupts our daily activities. I thought it was illegal for these people to force their way into our home.

Please do something about it.

Thanks

Hawthorne, NJ

We are 84 years old and we get more than 10 robo calls a day! We just stopped answering our phone we would miss calls from our kids and grandchildren. That set off many visits from them thinking something had happen to us. Please do something about this. Know not later!

Bob and Sue Pool
Clermont, Fl

Over half the calls that come to my (absolutely unpublished and carefully guarded!) cell phone and to our land line (re-entered on the Do Not Call list several times, totally ineffective) are now robocalls from unwanted callers. This is very distracting for me when I am working in my home office, even if I don't answer (assuming legitimate callers will leave a message). Please allow phone companies to provide convenient, free or low-cost solutions to this plague before it ruins us.

To: FCC (not dear to me): stop these invasive, irritating calls - even hanging up on them doesn't stop them.

I and only I pay for my phone. I and only I should be able to block telemarketers and robocalls. I have been on the nationwide do not call list since I got this number and I still get 4-8 of these calls DAILY. I am sick to death of these calls wasting my time.

Shelley Boyce
Highland, CA

It is shameful that the FCC does not do more to protect the US consumer. Make it illegal to spoof callerid, and especially require US telecom providers to block any offshore calls that arrive without valid callerid data.

Green Bay, WI

The unwanted and unwarrented "robocalls" have become an unnecessary burden. I, personally, receive a minimum of three (3) daily and I am, and have been since it's inception, on the "Do Not Call" list. Please find the time (and/or courage) to address this problem. I am a 78 year old widow and these calls certainly add to the aprehension of being alone. Thank you for any help you can give us.

Mrs. Patricia Mock
Burlington, Washington

As a consumer, I should have the right to reject unwanted calls coming to my home. The ability to opt-out should be a choice. Better yet, structure it as opt-in so that anyone interested in a particular issue can knowingly choose to receive those calls.

We are tired of repeatedly getting the same solication calls. Even with caller ID, we have been unsuccessfull in trying to not receive these kind of calls. Today, I got the first robo call on my cell phone, from "Rachel". Please give us a way to block this annoying phone calls.

Robocalls are a nuisance and should not be allowed. Especially since many are scam charities that are permitted to call. Please block the robocalls so that we may be protected from dishonest and annoying strangers.

Robo calls are an invasion of privacy. They call all day long up to 9:00 pm. in the evening and they are gaining nothing because with caller ID I do not answer the phone. I have call blocking, caller ID which appears on my TV screen and, nomorerobo. It should be illegal for these people to continue to make these unwanted robo calls daily which are a nuisance and causes stress in my life. I hate them!

Robocalls and live phone solicitations have increased to the point that it's a major irritation.

My wishlist includes:

(A) Allow blocking of any number entered by the end-user; even if the originating number is designated as political, religious, tax-exempt, etc.

(B) The blocking should be flexible and expandable as future tech changes.

(C) require analog systems to be updated to digital so that every exchange can block calls with user-entered info.

(D) blocked numbers should also include text messages and any other future service using phone numbers.

I would like for the phone (wired and wireless) companies to be required to allow the end user to enter and maintain via a web interface and android/iphone/windows phone app (for wired and wireless numbers), the following with no quantity (unlimited user-input) limitations:

1) block all phone calls using area code or area code & exchange wildcards.

examples: block all calls with a 502 area code or all calls from 502-877-####.

2) block all phone calls based on the CID's billing name value.

examples: unknown, out of area, etc.

3) block all phone calls with an invalid CID that doesn't match the normal area code & phone number configuration.

example: phone number of 1112434393983333

4) allow end-user to enter an unlimited number of phone numbers to allow to receive (reject those not in list)

5) expand Do Not Disturb (via end-user input) based on day of week and times examples: reject ALL phone calls (except those in the list listed in above (A))

- all the time OR

- a end-user entered time-frame Mon-Fri 9pm-7am, Sat 7am-7pm, Sun 7am-7pm

Question: Why are the phone companies concerned about valid phone calls being blocked if the end-user is entering ALL the information to block or allow to accept?

I hate robo calls and want to be able to block them

Robocalls are a nuisance. I should be able to block them. A product that helps me do that are a good idea.

The Do Not Call list is a total joke. The robo callers are laughing all the way to the bank and then some.
Thew current 20 number call block list from my carrier wouldn't cover one days worth of calls

I have been on both the land line and wireless Do Not Call Registries for years. Simply put - the Do Not Call list is not working. The amount of unsolicited telemarketer calls I receive has increased exponentially in the past few months. These companies call several times a day and several times a week. They lie and they have no interest in complying with the law. They laugh at you when you tell them that you are on the Do Not Call list. They need to be shut down and shut down NOW.

I do not want to receive robocalls. I currently receive up to 6 of these calls each and every day. These robocallers are preventing me from using my own telephone, because my line is tied up while their spiel is recorded by my phone system.

I pay for my own phone, and I should have access to it 24/7.

Nata Etherton
Cincinnati, OH

Stop all robocalls! It's harassment and these people shouldn't be able to get away with this. I'm on the "do not call list", but it doesn't seem to help. I now pay for a service to block calls, but they get through anyway. These company's use a different number every day, so I can't block them. I've even had 'spoofed' calls using my own name and number. Obviously the phone companies are complicit in this due to the money they make from allowing these calls to happen. They should be held accountable as well as the telemarketers. There needs to be huge fines on both of them, and start prosecuting offenders. As far as I'm concerned they should be treated like terrorists and eliminated with extreme prejudice. It's time for someone to take SOME action!

I have a daughter who requires medical treatments to be performed at home. I have family who calls and checks on her health. However, in the meantime I get very annoying robo calls from Arnold Swartzenegger and political mumbo jumbo that I can find info from Internet to know who to vote for. I also get calls to support my local Sheriff and fire department, calls that say i won a free cruise. These calls prevent my line from being open to calls that I get from wanted people and also from being able to perform or stop in the middle of the medical care that my child needs at home. I have received calls during dinner with my family and this is almost the only time we get to spend quality time with each other and DO NOT want to be interpreted. I am writing for you to allow robo blocking services as these calls are annoying and I pay for my phone, I should be in charge of who gets to use "my number." Thank You

Chillicothe, OH

It's a no brainer, get rid of these calls

Puyallup Wa

Robocalls are extremely annoying. Recently we had 11 calls from the same number in the span of 6 hours. And that is just one example of what we have to put up with. We are on the National Do Not Call List. We have reported violators and they continue to ignore Federal regulations. Services that provide robocall blocking products are our only means to minimize and thwart robocall violators. We oppose any effort to do away with robocall blocking products.

Carl & Ann Marie Lind

Robo calls are intrusive and frequently cause us to head for the phone when no one is there. They also waste limited cell phone minutes. Cable companies offer free phone lines so they can sell your phone number. Companies already push the law by offering a free opportunity which is really a sales call. Stop this intrusion into our personal space!!!

Maura Weitzman

Please stop these Robocalls !!! I get several each day to my cell phone. This has been going on for over a year. It is very disruptive and upsetting to my family life. Please, please do something to shut this down.

I cannot tell you how frustrating it is to get calls again, and again, and AGAIN from robocalls even when you press whatever to opt out!!! And, that's when you get an option!!!!!! There is one robocall we get that sounds off with a cruise ship horn that had somehow gotten through piggy backing on another call!!! I don't know how they do it, but I have repeatedly told them, pressed the button to opt out, etc. and they do NOT respect that AT ALL!!! I feel like we're being assaulted!!!! Laws need to be passed to protect the public you serve!!!! Thank you!!

I am upset that I have no control over the utility which I pay for and use regularly. My phone is inundated by robo and ghost calls and the phone company says that there is nothing that they can do. This is rubbish! Solutions exist yet the phone company refuses to do anything about it. It's up to the FCC to help the consumer.

Andrew M. Zuba

I should have the right to block ANY phone calls I feel are inappropriate to my family. Please allow users to use any products they want, and please do not allow communications companies to make money off of our pain.

Sunnyvale, CA

Robocalls are annoying and often used with malicious intent, to defraud consumers. They are almost impossible to trace back to the source. The entities that use robocalling do NOT honor the Do Not Call list. Services like Nomorobo are the only option for consumers to stop robocalls. I've used Nomorobo for years and it works very well. Prior to using Nomorobo, I received robocalls almost daily. When I took my valuable time to listen to them, NOT ONE was from a reputable business. They were all scams such as "credit card services" from companies I'd never done business with, attempts to defraud me, etc. Services like Nomorobo aren't just making my life more convenient, they are protecting me from criminal activity. Although I am perfectly happy with Nomorobo, this type of service is something that all phone companies should provide their customers with, by default, and for free. Thank you for listening.

I am a truck driver and unwanted calls,call me at all hours making me lose my sleep.Thanks to robocalls 99%have stopped calling. I love this app.Thanks robocalls.

I started logging all of the solicitation calls my company receives and attribute 1 minute of time lost in dealing with them (i.e. listening for an opt out prompt that does not usually stop these places from calling). In one month we lost 100 minutes of productive work time to deal with these unwanted calls. We have signed up for the "Do Not Call" program to no avail and would like to see some action from you to prevent this from continuing.

Anne-Marie Ludlum
Fort Pierce, FL

Do you like robocalls? Probably not. I don't.

It just makes sense to allow people to CHOOSE whether or not they want to block calls.

That's what I think - and, frankly, demand. I want to be allowed to choose what calls to receive, and to BLOCK them if I so choose.

Jacksonville, FL

Please ban robocalls, they are a invasion of my privacy and an intrusion into my life.

William Dierks

The ability to block robocalls is invaluable in maintaining one's privacy. I pay for my phone service, not these intrusive companies. I have the right to block unwanted calls from a service I do not want - it is my dime. If they want to call me let them pay my phone bill. Answering those calls causes me pain and discomfort as I am handicapped. As a citizen of a country that adheres to freedom of choice I should have the freedom to choose to opt out of this invasion of privacy.
