

60001028768.txt

I am against the net neutrality. Most of all, what will be voted on should be available for public review before it is signed, not after. It is vital that such complex regulations be reviewed to determine the effect on all users. Trying to make it into a tax cash cow will retard its growth and its capability to be a conduit for freedom of speech. It has blossomed since its inception due to its current structure which needs to be maintained to continue. Please make the regulations available for public review to better hone more applicable regulations.