

60001030903.txt

The internet works just fine and no one needs the bloated government to interfere. This would be the first step to shutting down the internet in the name of "public safety" which no one believes is that. It is a way to control the population, as certain segments of the population (a great minority) want.

Keep it free - which is what our Constitution (remember that document?) is based on.