As a business owner, commercial property owner and land owner and a SERIOUS tax paying citizen, I would like it to be known that I am adamantly opposed to any government regulation of the internet. How would you even consider applying a law written in 1934 to this day and time? I believe you are trying to solve a problem that does not exist. Let the marketplace do exactly what it always does and solve the issue itself. We don't need bureaucratic involvement.
