

From Audacity of Hope: 'I will stand with the Muslims should the political winds shift in an ugly direction.'

Why has no one asked Obama if he has disavowed his muslim ties? He was born to a muslim father, so was a muslim himself. He claims to be a Christian. Was he ever baptized a Christian? Why does he go out of his way to protect islam and criticize Christianity? Why is no one asking these questions? Where are the true investigative reporters? Are they afraid of being castigated for asking very basic questions, questions to which Americans want answers? Are they afraid to write answers that would explain why America has fallen so drastically? The American people are waiting for the tough questions to be asked. This president has somehow avoided these questions for 6 years, with the help of a compliant media.

It's just amazing that people are turning themselves inside out to justify islamic terrorism, to the point where they use examples of human behavior that happened 500 or more years ago! Read the damn koran! These nut cases are just following the koran. It instructs 'good' muslims to destroy infidels by the cruelest methods possible, and it's ok to lie to infidels about your intentions if it furthers your cause. Read the koran!

We have 3 EQUAL branches in our government. That sets us apart from every other country on the planet. Our current executive branch is corrupt, not operating in the best interest of our nation, is turning its back on our allies, and seems to be clearing a path for our enemies. Addressing the American people through Congress is a wise move.

Ben Carson needs to really clarify his stand on firearms. I'd like to see him thoroughly questioned on trevon martin issue, ferguson and any other race-baited issue.

To quote clinical psychologist Dr. Wendy Mogel: "It is our job to prepare our children for the road, not prepare the road for our children."

Mr West is the only one with courage to speak the obvious. Obama was born a muslim and never severed his affiliation. Obama has made it clear that he hates America and he continues to operate in defiance of our Constitution.

The scariest part? Our Congress is allowing it and our Supreme Court is stepping aside.

Hey, CV

- The Administration's conscious effort to end policies that effectively enforce and deter illegal immigration. This includes the cessation of meaningful worksite enforcement against employers who hire illegal aliens and the removal of the illegal workers. It also includes ending effective partnership programs with state and local governments, such as the 287(g) program, that provide a structure through which state and local agencies may enforce immigration laws.
- The Administration's intimidation of state and local governments determined to enforce federal immigration laws. President Obama has turned the Department of Justice into the Administration's attack dog, filing lawsuits against states that pass their own immigration enforcement laws. When lawsuits fail, the Department's Civil Rights division launches meritless investigations designed to harass local governments and officials who attempt to enforce the law.
- The Administration's dependence on illegal alien advocates to make U.S. immigration policy for the Executive Branch. President Obama has placed strident amnesty advocates in key positions throughout his Administration. These appointees have worked openly with advocacy groups to shape a series of policies that amount to backdoor amnesty.
- Outright deception on the part of the Administration designed to convince the American public that immigration laws are being vigorously enforced. The Obama Administration repeatedly engages in efforts to inflate its record of deporting illegal aliens. These deceptive practices include the release of data that is later exposed to be inaccurate. The Departments of Justice and Homeland Security carefully select data to claim that our "borders are more secure than ever," even as violence along the southern border escalates to alarming proportions.

Obama appears to be a tormented man who is filled with resentment, anger, and disdain for anyone of an opinion or view other than his. He acts in the most hateful, spiteful, malevolent, vindictive ways in order to manipulate and maintain power and control over others. Perhaps because, as a child, he grew up around family members and mentors who instilled him with an abiding bitterness toward the U.S. That bitterness seems not to have left him.

It is not the color of his skin that is a problem – for anyone in America. Rather it is the blackness that fills his soul and the hollowness in his heart where there should be abiding pride and love for this country.

Think: Have we ever heard Obama speak lovingly of the U.S. or its people, with deep appreciation and genuine respect for our history, our customs, our sufferings and our blessings? Has he ever revealed that, like most patriotic Americans, he gets “goose bumps” when a band plays “The Star Spangled Banner,” or sheds a tear when he hears a beautiful rendition of “America the Beautiful?” Does his heart burst with pride when millions of American flags wave on a National holiday – or is he moved to sadness and reflection when someone plays “taps” on a trumpet? Has he ever felt the depth of our admiration of the military, as lovers of those who keep America free feel when soldiers march by? It is doubtful – because Obama did not grow up sharing our experiences or our values. He did not sit at the knee of a grandfather or uncle who showed his medals and told of the bravery of his fellow troops as they fought and tramped through foreign lands sacrificing for a cause greater than their own lives. He didn’t have grandparents who told stories of suffering and then coming to America, penniless, and the opportunities they had for building a business and life for their children.

Away from this country as a young child, Obama didn’t delight in being part of America and its greatness. He wasn’t singing our patriotic songs in kindergarten, or standing on the roadside for a holiday parade and eating a hot dog, or lighting sparklers around a campfire on July 4th as fireworks exploded over head, or placing flags on the gravesites of fallen and beloved American heroes.

Rather Obama was separated from all of these experiences. He doesn’t really understand us and what it means to be an American. He is void of the basic emotions that most feel regarding this country and is insensitive to the instinctive pride we have in our national heritage. His opinions were formed by those who either envied us or wanted him to devalue the United States and the traditions and patriotism that unite us.

Obama has never given a speech that is filled with calm, reassuring, complimentary, heartfelt statements about all the people in the U.S. Or one that inspires us to be better, grateful, and proud that, in a short time, our country became a leader, and a protector of so many. Quite the contrary, his speeches always degenerate into mocking, ridiculing tirades as he faults our achievements, along with any of his critics, all for the sake of a laugh, or to bolster his ego. He uses his Office to threaten and create fear while demeaning and degrading anyone who opposes his policies and actions. Unlike a secure leader, who has noble self-esteem and not false confidence, Obama displays a cocky, haughty attitude and a dread of being critiqued.

Mostly, his time seems to be spent causing dissention, unrest, and anxiety among the people rather than uniting us (even though he was presented to us as the "Great Uniter"). He creates chaos for the sake of keeping citizens separated, envious, aggrieved and ready to argue. Under his leadership Americans have been kept on edge, rather than in a state of comfort and security. He incites people to be aggressive toward, disrespectful of, and retaliate against those of differing backgrounds and views. Through such behavior, Obama has lowered the standards for self-control and mature restraint to the level of rowdy, street-fighting gangs. When, instead, he should be raising the bar for people to strive toward becoming more considerate, tolerant, self-disciplined, self-sustaining, and self-assured.

Not a day goes by that he is not attempting to defy our laws, remove our rights, override established procedures, install controversial appointees, enact divisive mandates, and assert a dictatorial form of power.

Never has there been a leader of this great land who used such tactics to harm and hurt the people and this country.

Never have we had a President who spoke with a caustic, evil tongue against the citizenry rather than present himself as a soothing, calming, and trustworthy force.

Never, in this country, have we experienced how much stress one man can cause a nation of people – on a daily basis!

Obama has promoted the degeneration of peace, civility, and quality of cooperation between us. He thrives on tearing us down, rather than building us up. He is the Architect of the decline of America, and the epitome of a Demagogue.

Where to start? Early ed? Why is there such a push to take children out of the family setting at younger and younger ages, especially when there is no meaningful data showing a substantial benefit? Universal health insurance – c'mon, call it what it is, government run insurance. How about buying health ins like auto ins? Buy what YOU need/want, from any company in the country, allow tax free health accounts, tort reform. Can't afford ANY ins? That's what gov run Medicaid is for. Minimum wage – the gov has no place in the private workplace. Companies pay what the job is worth, not what the employee needs to make. Not making enough money? Get your butt educated, work a job that you hate in order to gain experience, start your own business. A forced minimum wage creates a price hike which causes another minimum wage hike that causes a price hike – it's never ending! A free market puts the brakes on that cycle. Stop expecting everyone to see you as special and deserving of more. People just like you are a dime a dozen. Your success/failure is YOUR responsibility alone.
