How are you, a bunch of self-appointed bottomdwellers, going to decide what information I take into my body? What gives you the right?! I *know* that you *think* you're right. I also know that you're not elected officials. How did you get authority over me? Who appointed you? THEIR job, and for that matter job position, title and duties (along with the entire federal communications commission) should go the way of the tyrannosaurus rex (I think they're extinct, but I'm afraid to look cause it may be censored).

Secondly - censorship. Who are you protecting? Who NEEDS protecting? Who was begging the FCC to intervene on the internet to save us all from our grotesque debauchery that we've unleashed ever-so-carelessly into the world? Ever heard of freedom of speech and freedom of choice and freedom of the press and the freedom to express ideas?

Thirdly - this is yet another, presumably fruitless (depends on how determined you all are) foray into public/personal affairs in the style of prohibition of alcohol and marijuana. It's a tired, worn-out notion that the government needs to protect its people from themselves.

Finally - a quote from George Orwell's '1984': Who controls the past controls the future; who controls the present controls the past.
