

60001041326.txt

The Internet's accessibility is vital for everyone. Don't give monied interests special access or the ability to control the speed at which information can be accessed. The public cannot afford special privileges for anyone. We can't afford either financially or morally to allow anything but equal access for all.

Thank you, Muriel Wentzien, Portland, Oregon 97212