

60001044648.txt

The bounce back message should be a standard message to allow apps that take advantage of this service to be able to easily and quickly understand that the service is unavailable and allow for another mode of transport for the information.