Keep the internet neutral, stop letting big companies take over they already make enough money. I already pay too much for what services I have and I can only imagine what it would be if you give them what they want (like a screaming 2 year old in the store). If this still gets passed I will try to boycott the internet for as long as possible. I feel others should do the same as well. (Yes I am implying people can live without internet and cable tv for a while to send the real message to these companies, we are tired of getting bullied by them!)
