Dear Chairman Wheeler:

I am the Chef and Owner of Gina's Catering located in Bryant, Arkansas. We have been serving the community since 2011. I began this small, local business because I was passionate about cooking for my family and friends.

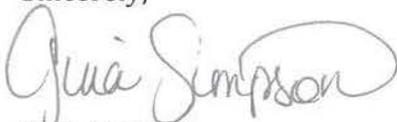

Our business had grown because of customer service, marketing and strong word-of-mouth. Our modern take on comfort food has earned us many return customers. Our events include everything from intimate family gatherings, to large events and receptions where we have served over 900 people.

Broadband is important to our business. We rely on online and call-in orders and payments. In addition, our ability to staff up and coordinate ingredient orders for larger events, often on tight timelines, is critical.

Affordable options for phone and Internet service make it easier for a small business to start up and thrive in today's world. We like having a robust choice – not just one or two options – of communications providers to serve us. Please continue to encourage the availability of a variety of low-cost broadband options as you look for ways to upgrade communication systems for our nation.

A catering company does not have the same needs as a large tech company, and access to affordable broadband helps make it possible for small business like mine to get cooking.

Sincerely,
