

60001086406.txt

The regulations on net neutrality do not benefit the American people. They restrict our freedom without offering any meaningful benefits. I am horrified that the American government would do this. I just learned about it today, and this is because there has been a severe lack of media coverage on the topic that reaches the average American. The topic has been spoken about only in highly technical terms that the general public does not understand. Please, I beg you, rescind these regulations.