

60001104247.txt

Net Neutrality is the way the internet has worked all along, and its result has been the production of a tremendous new services industry, great improvements in communication and education, and large economic productivity boosts. It must be preserved.

ISPs should be redefined as utilities. Please re-instate net neutrality to protect this important cultural and economic engine.