

60001115068.txt

Most of the robo-calls I get are from politicians or political surveyors. Trying to speak to hearts and minds by making robo-calls is plainly inane regardless of any data to the contrary. If you insist that robo-calls work, then use your robo-caller for a higher purpose--for evangelism. Maybe you could get Beth Moore, Tony Campolo, or some other notable Christian person to record a convincing robo-call to conversion and salvation. (Or pick your favorite clerics and religions.)

Imagine followers of all faiths acting like this!
(Politicians are already acting like this.)

Robo-calling is inane indeed. It should be stopped ASAP.