

60001224076.txt

I strongly disagree with this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. There is a very real need to allow modifications to be made to best ensure ease of use, security and functionality. This is particularly important when considering older devices that have reached their serviceable end of life where such security upgrades and potential security holes will not be resolved by the manufacturer. Allowing for crowd sourced, end user modification prolongs the actual end of life for the hardware while keeping up to date with security features and patches.