Dear FCC,

My name is Gold Sheng Vang and I live in Stanford, CA.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

I want to be able to freely express myself and ideas. Please don't limit ways how we can help our society develop and become better. We need to be able to share our ideas without limits to further create constructive discourse.

Sincerely,

Gold Sheng Vang
