Dear FCC,

My name is Marcus Eren and I live in Northport, FL.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I don't want to see community innovations, such as mesh networking, get cut off.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

Dear FCC, The internet is and shall be a place for equal opportunity. Not for rich business men to manipulate free speech for profit.

You have NO RIGHT to Try to remove Free speech from the Internet by saying one person's opinion is More valid because they have money to pay off.

My rights are protected under the US Constitution, the First Amendment, the right to free speech. In which you are in direct violation of in this proposal of regulating radio frequency's.

There is a single entity that will NEVER be touched nor manipulated in any way of restriction every modern day citizen of every country will not stand for. That is the internet.

Sincerely,

Marcus Eren
