Dear FCC,

My name is John Tanczos and I live in Northampton, PA.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would keep me from using my custom wireless configuration.

I am able to reprogram a router to enable it to be used as a receiver. This is very helpful in areas where I am unable to run a cable but need to. Some printers and other devices still rely on a hard wire. Please do not make this change and restrict our usage.

Sincerely,

John Tanczos
