Dear FCC,

My name is Trevor L. Foresta and I live in Wilmington, DE.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

The internet is an amazing innovation and serves as a platform where everyone can express themselves. I suggest not to take such a strong-developing and important aspect of our society for profit, it will only end in chaos.

Sincerely,

Trevor L. Foresta
