I am a current CT customer of Frontier in my 11th day of network outages, frustrated by the incredibly poor quality of Frontier's service and, more importantly, problem resolution (or lack thereof). From the Stamford (CT) Advocate newspaper article of 10/30/15, I now know I am not alone in my problems with Frontier. I can't believe the FCC is actually entertaining allowing Frontier to take over yet more customer accounts from Verizon and others when Frontier can't even handle those it already has. A year into their takeover of former AT&T accounts like mine, they are still fumbling. I'd ask you reconsider any future moves by Frontier so millions more people aren't in the predicament we are. Thank you.
