Dear FCC,

My name is Dylan Huhn and I live in Staples, MN.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

the people always find a way to improve because they live on the edge of change and feel it the quickest. With necessity being the mother of invention they will find a way around irrational regulations, or improve the system with reasonable and freedom based regulations.

Sincerely,

Dylan Huhn
