Dear FCC,

My name is Aidan and I live in Joc di t, CA.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I don't want to see community innovations, such as mesh networking, get cut off.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would Get rid of new innovation

Because I like new ideas having the ability to be shared for free, the point of the Internet

Sincerely,

Aidan
