Dear FCC,

My name is Andrew Samperi and I live in Standish, ME.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

The openness of the internet is what makes it such a valuable resource. Restricting it would only bring a divide between social classes. It would soil the freedoms we as people are sworn to protect.

Sincerely,

Andrew Samperi
