Dear FCC,

My name is Mike Bijan and I live in Houston, TX.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would keep me from using my custom wireless configuration.

if you allow big corporations to have the head on others just because it has more money then the quality of the internet goes down it should be allowed for the places with the best ideas to have the head on others.

Sincerely,

Mike Bijan
