Dear FCC,

My name is Daniel and I live in ny city, NY.

The principles of user choice and control are vitally important for a vibrant wireless ecosystem. But as written, the NPRM threatens to undermine these ideals by limiting what users can do with their devices. That's a concern, because I want to be able to update my own wireless software?not rely on slow manufacturers shipping updates.

The draft rules could enable device manufacturers to forbid third-party software, which would make me feel less safe about the wireless networks I use and operate.

I believe that the internet of today is very strong and pleasing to most if not every user. We all have somethings we like and if this FCC thing goes through then many people will not get to see the things they like.

Sincerely,

Daniel
